Top Man.
On Peace
Resigns

B.C. Electric's top man on the Peace River power project resigned today.

Richard M. Bibbs, appointed project manager only Sept. 12, announced he was quitting to go into private business.

The move came as the board of directors of the crown agency was meeting to discuss the earlier resignation of Dr. Harry L. Purdy, vice-president in charge of operations.

Dr. Purdy announced Thursday he had submitted his resignation, but declined to give reasons other than it was a "personal" matter.

Directors today were expected to name a successor to Dr. Purdy — the man who actually ran the daily operation of B.C. Electric.

A B.C. Electric spokesman said a number of personnel changes and appointments are expected after the meeting.

There have been almost a dozen executive resignations since the government took over B.C. Electric Aug. 1.

PRIVATE BUSINESS

Mr. Bibbs had no comment to make on his reasons for leaving. He said only that he intended to go into private business.

As peace project manager, his job was to co-ordinate all aspects of the giant hydro plan which B.C. Electric took over from the associates of Swedish financier Axel Wenner-Gren at the same time the government took control of the big utility.

Before that job, Mr. Bibbs was a administration manager of the private B.C. Electric's electrical division.

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters)—President Moise Tshombe, who shipped back into his embattled capital Thursday night, today accused the United States of "murdering Katanga as Russia murdered Hungary" in 1956.

The Katanga leader bitterly attacked American aid to the United Nations forces here, accusing U.S. "mercenaries" of bombing churches, schools, hospitals and residential areas.

He said women and children were killed in the bombing Thursday night. At one place, he said, seven persons died.

The U.S., Tshombe said, was playing Moscow's game by "sending aircraft and diplomats to the Congo—everything except soldiers."

Tshombe said the "American man is too much of a coward and too decadent" to do the fighting when he can use "the flesh and blood" of the Indian UN troops.

The Katanga leader also accused the UN of making air strikes at manganese mines, trying to destroy Katanga's industrial potential.

Tshombe arrived back in Elisabethville in a silent convoy after driving 170 miles from the copper mining town of Ndola in Northern Rhodesia. He was whisked with incident to his heavily-guarded residence as mortars thudded in the distance.

Meanwhile, Maj.-Gen. Sean McKeown, UN Congo Commander, was reported flying here from Leopoldville to get a first-hand account of the four-day battle.

Tshombe supporters were under orders by Katanga radio to "poison your arrows" and fight until the last UN soldier had been killed or forced out of Katanga.

The radio called on every Katangan to "choose his Gurkha, his Swede, his Irishman, his Norwegian—we know there

CHILDREN OF INDIA

They're Starting to Die

This is the time of year when people start to die in India.

In the hills and mountains temperatures are dropping lower each night as winter sets in.

Cold, bitter winds rush down from the mountain tops and howl through shacks made of cartons, flattened tins, bits of canvas and mud.

PAID 26 CENTS

The father has worked from dawn until dusk that day for about 26 cents. Since he is the breadwinner he has been entitled to most of the food.

The mother has eaten nearly all remaining since her daily struggle to make ends meet takes energy too.

The two young children have had only the watery liquid their parents' rice was cooked in and some tough, long-boiled plant shoots.

This is average for them and they don't complain but continual starvation has sapped their strength, their resistance to disease and the scabs and boils on their skin is only an indication of the sickness within.

THREE WAYS

There are three threats facing these children — dying of pneumonia, dying of tuberculosis and dying of starvation.

No U.S.
'Blueprint'
For Congo

WASHINGTON (AP)—American State Secretary Dean Rusk said today the United Nations is not out to conquer The Congo's Katanga province but only wants to create a situation in which the Congolese themselves can work out their own government.

At a press conference, Rusk denied the United States has a blueprint for The Congo up its sleeve. But he said the U.S. will continue to give strong help to the UN in its effort to stabilize the turbulent African country.

Turning to troubled southeast Asia, the state secretary accused the Communists of having stepped up a campaign of terror and violence aimed at taking over South Viet Nam.

He expressed hope that other countries will join the U.S. in aiding the embattled South Vietnamese government.

HOPES FOR INQUIRY

He expressed hope that the three-nation international control commission would shortly begin looking into Communist violations of the 1954 Geneva peace agreement for Indochina—the agreement that created South Viet Nam and other political units in the area.

Rusk said there had been some indications that the Canadian Indian-Polish body would finally come to grips with charges of terror, assassination, torture, kidnapping, infiltration and open military attack which South Viet Nam has made against the Reds.

WIRE BRIEFS

No Stabbing Charge

VANCOUVER (CP)—Millionaire Patrick B. Ballentine, a former Toronto advertising executive, will not stand trial on a charge of attempting to murder a Vancouver doctor, deputy police chief Gordon Ambrose said today. Ambrose said an order has been obtained to commit Ballentine to a provincial mental hospital.

German Reds Defied

BERLIN (AP)—U.S. troop detachments moved along the Communist-controlled Berlin autobahn in both directions today without interference despite a new assertion by the East German regime that such movements are "illegal and provocative."

BALTAP Established

LIONS GROUP TALKS TO IVY

VANCOUVER (CP)—The name of Frank (Pop) Ivy, one of the most successful coaches in Canadian football history, today was mentioned as a possible coach of the British Columbia Lions if a private syndicate is successful in a bid to buy the club.

Bill Clancey, spokesman for the syndicate whom he said will be identified shortly, revealed that a number of telephone conversations were held with Ivy. The coach who brought Edmonton Eskimos to three Grey Cups, was said to be interested in coaching the Lions if the syndicate is successful in its purchase bid.

Scattered Fighting
On Frontier of Goa

NEW DELHI (Reuters)

Scattered border fighting today was reported around the frontier of Goa as India and Portugal appeared to be heading toward a showdown over the tiny Portuguese enclave.

The Press Trust of India news agency said Portuguese troops opened fire from Goa without provocation Thursday night on two Indian villages.

The agency also reported fighting between Portuguese troops and Goan guerrillas inside the 1,300-square-mile territory on India's west coast.

The reports followed a Portuguese statement Thursday night accusing Indian fighter planes of strafing a Goan village and violating the air space of Damao and Dio, two other Portuguese territories.

So far there have been no reports of direct clashes between Portuguese and Indian forces massed along the Goan border, but India has served notice it will feel free to act if there are "provocations" by Portugal or internal repression in the enclaves.

Police Disperse
Rhodesia Crowd

SALISBURY (Reuters)—Southern Rhodesia police today used fear gas to disperse a small crowd of Negro women in the wake of political demonstrations Thursday night in which a Negro was shot dead and 10 were wounded by police.

Two gas bombs were thrown at the women when they gathered near the heavily-guarded prime minister's office and ignored police orders to disperse.

Metro Pot Stirred
By Murphy

By JOHN MIKA

Stanley Murphy's election victory statement as the new Saanich reeve has set the simmering metropolitan government pot boiling again.

The reeve-elect—following in the footsteps of former reeve Arthur Ash—said he will make an appointment with Victoria's new mayor early in the New Year to discuss the prospects of establishing a metro government with jurisdiction over Greater Victoria and the entire Saanich peninsula.

It is virtually certain that all other civic leaders will scorn the suggestion as they have in the past but Mr. Murphy will get a sympathetic hearing from Victoria's new mayor whoever he is.

Both mayoralty candidates J. Donald Smith and R. B. (Dick) Wilson have indicated favor for the idea of a study at least.

Mr. Smith has come out flatly in favor of metropolitan government, created by provincial decree if necessary.

Mr. Wilson has said some sort of greater community is inevitable and has promised he would call for establishment of Continued on Page 3

Special Report
Before CouncilBy JOHN MIKA
Times City Hall Reporter

A $5,000,000 attack on spreading slums in Victoria, calling initially for razing and rebuilding of 38 acres of blighted housing, was proposed to city council today.

The five-year plan drawn up by Capital Region Planning Board culminates a year-long survey costing $25,000, jointly sponsored by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation and the city.

Best news for council in the report dealt with costs.

The estimates showed that the giant redevelopment program could be obtained for an outlay of about $350,000 of city money because the federal and provincial governments would pick up most of the tab under urban renewal provisions.

Return to the city, besides making it a better place to live, would include almost a doubling of tax revenue from the redeveloped areas and about $100,000 worth of right-of-way for the proposed Blanshard Street extension free.

Priority would be aimed at the north Blanshard and Spring Ridge areas where all buildings would be torn down, land re-assembled and new low-rent housing constructed for some 295 families.

Rehabilitation for Chinatown

Four other blighted areas would be redeveloped after the first five-year program was completed.

Re-location of obsolete North Ward Elementary School on five acres and sale of 2½ acres for motel development also is involved in the priority development.

Secondary development under the plan would rehabilitate Chinatown and Victoria West without the radical surgery involved in demolition of buildings.

This would be accomplished in Chinatown by conversion of two existing three-storey buildings into adequate housing for most of the area's 750 aging bachelors and conversion of Fisgard, below Government, into a 100-yard pedestrian plaza.

In Victoria West, the plan proposes a relatively simple method of getting immediate results by closing between-block portions of Mary Street, from Dundas to Raynor, and Alston Street, from Henry to Raynor.

This would create a series of strip parks—and badly needed open space—in the heart of the district while leaving the intersecting streets, Henry, Wilson, Edward, Langford and Skinner open to cross-traffic.

The plan also calls for several "spot redevelopment" projects scattered in several areas of the city involving only two or three rundown houses in relatively good housing areas.

Hold-the-Line Action Proposed

Also called for is a co-ordinated effort by all city committees and departments to hold the line against spread of slums in borderline areas.

For the downtown area, marred by some derelict property, the report generally prescribed development of a series of pedestrian malls, off-street parking facilities and a general paint-up, clean-up campaign in order to attract shoppers and tourists.

Biggest single project proposed in the report is the North Blanshard redevelopment over 28 acres bounded by Hillside, a line between Wark and Quadra Streets, Kings Road, a line between Blanshard and Rose jogged line running east of Douglas and along Ross Lane. Some 129 houses, a small church, meeting hall, 18-unit motel and a corner store would be demolished to clear the way for a new motel zone, a five-acre school site to replace North Ward School and construction of 139 units of low-rent row housing and garden apartments and 21 units of bungalows for elderly persons.

Total cost of purchasing, clearing, relocating residents and rerouting roads and services would be an estimated $1,148,842.

This would be reduced by $395,000 from sale of cleared land for private, school and housing development.

$376,470 From Federal Gov't

Net cost of $752,942 would be split $376,470 to the federal government, and $188,235 paid by each of the provincial and civic governments.

Then the low-rent housing, estimated at $1,570,000 would be built in the area split 75-25 per cent between the federal and provincial governments.

Any losses on rental would be split 75 per cent to the federal and 12½ per cent to each of the provincial and civic governments.

Civic gains also would include $100,000 worth of right-of-way for the Blanshard extension going through the redeveloped area 4, by rearranging existing road allowances.

In addition, the existing $463,350 taxable assessment of the area would be approximately doubled, giving the city more revenue every year after the development.

A similar plan would cover 10 acres of Spring Ridge area bounded by Denman, Fernwood, portions of Gladstone and Spring Streets.

The existing 59 buildings would be demolished, land re-assembled and 117 units of low-rent row housing and 18 units for elderly citizens constructed.

Net cost of $309,000 for purchase, clearing, relocation of residents and services would include a city share of $77,250.

The new housing would cost $1,350,000, again shared 75-25 per cent by the federal and provincial governments.

The report recommends a review of the whole program at the end of five years when priorities could be allocated to four other sections requiring razing and redevelopment: the mill area between Turner and Bridge Streets; the area south of Memorial Area; the Johnson-Cook-Yates area; and the St. James-Beckley area in James Bay.

Beer on Douglas—Murphy
Why Restrict it?—Ostler

Signs of a conflict are already evident in the new Saanich council.

Councillor Robert Ostler today opposed a statement by Reeve-Elect Stanley Murphy that he would restrict Saanich beer parlors to Douglas Street.

"It must be on Douglas Street or nothing," said Mr. Murphy.

He made this statement after Saanich residents had voted 5,474 to 3,689 in favor of selling beer by the glass in the municipality.

"The provincial government issues the licences, but we control the zoning."

Councillor Ostler immediately opposed this view.

"I agree with Mr. Murphy that there should be no beer parlors in residential areas," he said. "But I will certainly oppose restricting them to Douglas Street when the people have voted for beer in Saanich."

Mr. Murphy's statement that beer parlors should be confined to Douglas Street runs counter to a local businessman's proposal to establish a combination English-style pub and German beer garden in the Cordova Bay area.

To do this he would first have to get permission from the council; then persuade the B.C. Legislature to pass an amendment to the B.C. Liquor Act permitting a pub and a beer garden as distinct from a beer parlor.

Woman, 30, Abducted In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Earl Nash, 40, who is charged with robbery and abduction of a 30-year-old woman, police said today. He is also charged with assault.

Thursday, three men raided a house in suburban Toronto, stole $7, and forced Miss Eileen Marshall to go with them.

Miss Marshall was sitting with her sick sister, Mrs. Harris Little, when the men entered the house. Mrs. Little was tied to the bed but freed herself after two hours and telephoned police.

Let's Keep Politics Out of City Hall

R. B. (Dick) WILSON

If a Provincial Member enters City Hall, the Aldermen will no longer be free men. Their deliberations would always have the shadow of political interest looking over their shoulders. I am greatly encouraged by the many manifestations of righteous indignation on all sides about this attempt to infiltrate the Council Chamber. In asking your support, may I emphasize that I have no political backing and my campaign is endorsed by no political party.

Murphy Wins In Landslide

Saanich voters Thursday clearly indicated they are opposed to party politics in municipal administration by electing high school teacher Stanley Murphy as their new reeve.

They also showed in one of the heaviest votes in recent years they favor the planning and zoning policies of retiring Reeve George Chatterton.

These were the two main issues in the Saanich elections which ended in a sweeping victory for Mr. Murphy who polled 52 per cent of the popular vote.

He received 4,478 votes while his opponents, Coun. Leslie Passmore and John Tisdalle, Social Credit MLA for Saanich, received 2,640 and 1,479 votes respectively.

It was a resounding defeat for Mr. Tisdalle who in 1960 chalked up 9,995 votes in a provincial election.

BIG ISSUE

The MLA's entry into municipal politics became one of the main issues in the elections.

Mr. Passmore, in his campaign, charged that Mr. Tisdalle as MLA could not serve Saanich and the provincial government as the interest between the two levels of government clashed.

Mr. Tisdalle was visibly shaken by the vote and blamed his defeat on the newspapers.

"The main issue at stake was keep Tisdalle out," he said. He said he will co-operate with the new council.

"I have never found it hard to live with the decision of the voters," he said.

Coun. Passmore was surprised with the results, but pleased with Mr. Tisdalle's defeat.

"I have nothing against Mr. Tisdalle," he said. "But I sincerely believe he could not serve two masters. He should stay with provincial politics."

FAVOR PLANNING

Reeve-elect Murphy, who teaches English at Victoria High School, said the vote showed voters are in favor of the present planning policies of council.

He said he will immediately call for a study of a metropolitan form of government for the whole of the Saanich Peninsula.

This was one of Mr. Murphy's main platform planks.

The reeve was sorry that Mrs. Yarwood did not win a council seat.

"She is very capable," he said, "and I'm sorry she was defeated."

OSHAWA (CP) — "An estimated 8,000 union workers at the south plant of General Motors of Canada walked off the job at 11 a.m. today and set up picket lines at all exits.

The walkout was not sanctioned by the executive of Local 222, United Automobile Workers (CLC), said local vice-president Jack Meagher.

Workers at the Oshawa plant and four other plants in Ontario had voted to strike Dec. 11 if the dispute with the company was not settled by then.

are enough of them for all."
The UN stand was just as firm. A UN spokesman said the UN will stop fighting only when the Katanga troops lay down their arms.

"The military are now in charge," the spokesman said. "Even if the Katanga government made proposals to us, we are not empowered to discuss them, and the only thing we could do would be to pass them on to New York."

AIRLIFT RESUMED
Tshombe's disciplined troops were putting up fierce resistance to UN attacks but the odds appeared to be against them with the resumption today of a United States airlift.

The U.S. grounded its 14 Globemaster transport planes Thursday because of machine-gun fire over Elisabethville but later informed the UN the airlift would continue today with protection from fighter planes.

One of the Globemasters was hit in the fuel tank Thursday by bullets fired from Tshombe's palace but, like another damaged Wednesday night, it managed to land safely.

The big transport planes have already flown in 350 Irish and 500 Swedish troops to reinforce tough Gurkha troops who have led the street-by-street battle with the Katanga forces.

No official death toll in the fighting was available but the Belgian news agency Inbel reported Thursday that about 80 UN troops had been killed and more than 100 wounded. Katanga's losses were set at 62 dead and less than 100 wounded.

UN RULES AIR
In the air, the UN has established almost complete authority with its force of Indian jet bombers and Swedish jet fighter planes.

The Prince Leopoldville Hospital in Elisabethville was hit by about 50 mortar shells during a night-long barrage.

Doctors and nurses said the firing came from UN Swedish and Irish camps.

ADMITS FIRING
Abdullahi Succar, third-ranking UN civilian official in this Katanga capital, admitted the UN forces fired mortars in the direction of the hospital but claimed they were aimed at a military camp—Camp Tshombe—800 yards from the hospital.

Dr. Roger Friart, in the hospital during the attack, said there were about 700 patients there at the time.

"Fortunately not one of them was badly hurt though a few were hit by flying glass. It was a miracle nobody was killed or wounded by the bombs."

Shells also landed in the Negro quarter south of the hospital, and Katanga officials claimed four African civilians—including two young girls—were killed and a Roman Catholic church was hit.

About 100 Congolese university students today smashed up several British embassy cars during a demonstration outside the embassy in Leopoldville. They dispersed when Premier Cyrille Adoula told them to go home quietly.

METRO

study group as provided under the Municipal Act to investigate all pros and cons. But he is against government imposition of metro.

BIG EFFORT
The situation recalls the 1957 Saanich reeveship campaign won by Arthur Ash who immediately launched a major effort to obtain amalgamation of the four municipalities into a single city.

Oak Bay and Esquimalt refused but Victoria and Saanich finally set up a one-man fact-finding commission with Dr. J. J. Deutsch, UBC economics dean.

Dr. Deutsch reported amalgamation of the two municipalities was feasible and desirable. The $6,500 study was split among Victoria, Saanich and the provincial government.

1958 VOTE
Plebiscites in Victoria and Saanich were arranged for the 1958 election.

A hectic campaign ended in Victoria voting two-to-one in favor; Saanich two-to-one against.

Reeve George Chatterton was blamed for the Saanich defeat when he told electors "my heads says yes but my heart says no" to the amalgamation question.

Subsequently, he suggested the two municipalities try to form a metro government—a super-council which would eliminate the two local councils. This got nowhere.

Reeve-elect Murphy is going to try it again.

SEWER, FRIGID CANAL USED BY ESCAPEES

BERLIN (AP)—Seven young Germans escaped from East Berlin Thursday through sewers and the near-freezing waters of a canal.
Four young men and a girl crawled hundreds of feet through a sewer. They were rescued when a West Berlin policeman saw a manhole cover moving on a street just 20 feet to the west of the Communist wall.

As East German police watched helplessly from the barrier, the escapees, aged from 19 to 21, were pulled out to safety.

Hours later two 16-year-old girls made a night swim to reach the West Berlin side of a canal, apparently hidden from East German guards by darkness.

The trembling youngsters were taken to a hospital.

WESTERN UNITY HANGS ON DECISION

Berlin Talks Up to De Gaulle

By HAROLD MORRISON
WASHINGTON (CP)—The shape of Western unity and strategy on Berlin now depends on the decision of a single man.

A fateful meeting in Paris Saturday between West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle will decide whether the Western powers will be united or divided on the question of negotiating with Russia on the future of Berlin.

De Gaulle is reported strongly opposed to negotiations at this time, arguing that Russia fomented the Berlin crisis and that the West should stand firm. Britain and the United States want to negotiate and they have persuaded West Germany to support their move.

But without De Gaulle there can be no complete negotiation. All three Western powers—Britain, United States and France—hold occupational rights in Berlin.

High American authorities have made clear they view the Adenauer-De Gaulle meeting with intense concern. If Adenauer fails to convince De Gaulle, Britain and the United States will have to shop around for a new approach.

The Great Adventure

PRESIDENT KENNEDY IS NOW embarked on the largest adventure of United States domestic politics since Franklin Roosevelt's New Deal.

In some ways the President's attempt to revolutionize American commercial policy will be more difficult than the New Deal. Roosevelt led a nation in economic collapse, a Congress ready to do anything he asked. Mr. Kennedy faces a prosperous nation and a Congress which, nominally supporting him, will be reluctant to dismantle the existing structure of tariffs, the whole protectionist system.

Yet the President asks nothing less. He says rightly that the reciprocal trade agreements legislation, invented by the late Cordell Hull, has run its course and exhausted its usefulness. Under it the United States steadily reduced its tariffs by agreement with other nations, according to the principles of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. But GATT, too, is reaching the end of its usefulness because the American President has virtually exhausted his power to continue tariff reductions in any significant volume.

Mr. Kennedy proposes, therefore, a new American policy and a new GATT. Instead of renewing the reciprocal trade agreement law the Congress, he says, should give him power to negotiate tariff reductions with the entire free world on a broad front.

Where he and his predecessors have been permitted in the past only to bargain on a single product, he wishes to bargain on large groups of products. "We can no longer haggle," he says, "over item-by-item reductions with our principal trading partners."

The purpose of the President's policy is not to make the United States a member of the European Common Market, which is impossible, but to produce a general reduction in trade barriers all over the free world during a period of years. Every tariff change in the United States would apply to the goods of every member of GATT on a non-discriminatory basis. In return, of course, the United States would expect concessions of the same sort from the other GATT members.

Mr. Kennedy thus hopes not only to transform the business of the free world but to forge a new weapon against Communism.

"If," he says, "the nations of the West can weld together on these programs a common program of action as extraordinary in economic history as NATO was in military history, the long-range Communist aim of dividing and encircling us all is doomed to failure."

But will the Congress understand and approve the aims of this program, economic and political? Or will it try to avoid the new foreign competition which must follow any further cuts in American tariffs?

The next few months should begin to answer that question. The Congress will soon launch one of the most important debates in its entire history—as important to the free world as it is to the United States.

No foreign nation will be more deeply involved in it than Canada because the United States is by far our largest external market and chief supplier. Our economic affairs are deeply, irrevocably enmeshed with those of our neighbor. Moreover, the Canadian government—in an apparent shift of attitude—has lately said that it would welcome American leadership in a world-wide attack on tariffs.

This is easy to say but will the Canadian government be prepared to reduce tariffs if the United States gives that leadership? For we need not suppose that the United States will open its markets wider to the world unless the world reciprocates. As one of its chief traders Canada must play its full part in this commercial revolution (it is nothing less) if Mr. Kennedy can carry his policy through the Congress.

Thus for the United States, for Canada, the Common Market and for the free peoples everywhere the next six months of debate in Washington will be of supreme importance, the outcome dubious, the stakes high and the price of failure disastrous.

Saanich Made It Plain

SAANICH VOTERS HAVE MADE their position clear on two significant points. By electing Mr. Stanley Murphy reeve in the most important of Greater Victoria's municipal elections yesterday they demonstrated their desire for planned development in their area.

Mr. Murphy was the outstanding champion of planning in the contest. And in the most emphatic way possible they have rejected any suggestion that their municipal affairs should be dominated by a member of the legislature sitting on the Government side of the House. That is the meaning of the decisive defeat suffered by Mr. John Tisdale, who finished a poor third in the three-man fight for the reeveship, beaten three-to-one by Reeve-elect Murphy and almost two-to-one by the runner-up, Mr. Leslie Passmore.

In Saanich the majority of people who marked ballots recognized the conflict of interest which exists between council and government in municipal affairs. The sanity shown by Saanich electors on this matter does not, of course, detract in any way from the personal triumph of Mr. Murphy in his successful bid for the reeveship. As a councillor he has proved his abilities to serve the municipality, has honored his commitment to work for orderly development in Saanich, and has shown a progressive attitude to the future of this entire community by his support of a metropolitan system of government.

In Oak Bay, Reeve George Murdoch has again been successful, retaining his leadership of the council in the face of a spirited bid from one of his young councillors, Mr. Gordon Elworthy.

Similarly, in Esquimalt, the reeveship remains firmly in the hands of Mr. A. C. Wurtele, whose re-election was unopposed.

In general terms, the result of yesterday's voting confirms public satisfaction with the leadership provided in the surrounding districts. Mr. Murphy has announced his decision to follow the planning policies laid down by retiring reeve Mr. George Chatterton. With the return of the other two reeves, no significant change in administrative policies is anticipated.

Because they removed themselves from council by unsuccessful campaigns for reeveships, Oak Bay and Saanich have lost two useful councillors, Mr. Elworthy and Mr. Passmore. It is to be hoped their absence from municipal life will be short.

In the junior lists, the spectacular showing of Mr. Hugh Curtis in topping the Saanich council poll shows an encouraging infusion of new blood into municipal affairs. This is a commendable development as councils move forward into the problems of a new age.

Good Tidings and Bad

IF MR. DIEFENBAKER PLANS to call a general election next spring there will not be time before then to carry out the redistribution of parliamentary seats needed as a result of the census taken this year. But if an autumn election is in prospect, then redistribution should certainly be completed, as constitutional requirements demand.

To delay further would be unfair to those provinces which may expect, as a result of population increases, to obtain the right to elect more representatives to Parliament. Some Ottawa observers believe that even with an autumn election there would not be sufficient time to permit a redistribution of seats. And they point out that the law does not set any specific date by which the post-census redistribution must be finished; it says merely "on the completion" of the census. The official "completion" could take several years.

Delaying revision of the Commons seats unduly, however, will lay the government open to the charge of politicking for its own advantage, and the suspicion that it fears the required changes. Such considerations could be damaging to the administration, even more damaging than one probable outcome of the revision—a gain of three seats for Ontario and the loss of one by Quebec. This might add to the feelings of discrimination under which Quebec now labors.

An even stiffer test faces Mr. Diefenbaker personally. On current estimates, redistribution of seats would mean that Saskatchewan, the prime minister's home province, would lose four. That is news he must be loath to take home to his constituents.

What the Well-Bred Child Should Know About Fallout

By B. A. TOBIN

HUMANS being what they are, and our times being what they are, and everything else being equal, The Toronto Telegram has been running an interesting series of articles on radiation hazards, the bomb, and other handy items of information for today's intensive living. We're living in depth in this age—even if it may turn out to be in a bomb shelter. And included in what modern man knows as a full rich life is the pleasure of deciding—as Article No. 12 of the Telegram series is entitled—"What to tell children about fallout hazards."

Tobin

There used to be a day when one or other of the parents would take Junior or Sister aside and mumble meaningfully about the birds and the bees, with maybe a bit of Dr. Spock thrown in and a Bible quotation or two for good measure.

There would be shy mention of a few scientific terms such as "pollen," "chicks-and-kittens," "carrying on the race" and such. The kid would listen politely, wondering if poor old dad was trying to tell him about sex—which the kid knew all about—or what.

Eventually the interview, sweated through by the party of the first part and yawned through by the party of the second part, would be concluded and the parent would feel that the child was adequately prepared for such social problems as life might bring him.

It's all different now, of course. Today the anxious parent appreciates that Johnny and Jenny have learned all about procreation long ago and can even give a dissertation on genes and chromosomes and Mendel's Law that will make adults blush from ignorance if from nothing else.

So instead of the bees and flowers routine, the parent has a new topic. In the spirit of The Telegram's series, he takes his offspring aside for a quiet talk on radiation.

No more bees and calves and lambs. No more flowers. No more Spock. The new parental line is straight out of the graduate courses in advanced chemistry and physics. In scope it begins with Dr. Einstein and goes forward.

"You see, lad," says Dad, "when a charged particle penetrates an atom it must affect the intra-atomic structure, partially neutralizing the nucleus or radically altering the surrounding electronic system. This can result in creation of a more complex but unstable atom, such as Iodine-131, with a half-life of 8 days, or Strontium-90, with a corresponding self-destructive period of 28 years. Do you follow me?"

"Sure, Dad," says the kid. "But don't overlook the fact that new studies of the meson indicate a still more complex integration of electro-gravitational forces. After all, it is questionable if a balanced system can be maintained in perpetuity, particularly when the Quantum Theory specifies that..."

At this point Dad has to nip down stairs for another look at his copy of "Relativity for Everyman," or "The ABC of Nuclear Disintegration," or even "Do-it-Yourself Fission."

Most parents will try to avoid the deeper scientific implications of the new father-son, mother-daughter relationship. They will skip as lightly as possible over the more esoteric stuff and merely try to drive home a few of the major fundamentals.

These include giving the child opportunity to familiarize himself with the family shelter, learning the location of the dehydrated foods, first aid supplies, canned water and battery radio. He should also be instructed in the elementary use of the Geiger counter and told to wash off that nasty grey dust that falls on everything because it will burn him.

Finally, allowing the kids to use the shelter for a play area so as to overcome latent fears, there is one final instruction that all earnest parents will wish to impress on their young.

It may be summed up as: "And keep your twitchy little hands off that machine gun. It's Daddy's."

By VIC MACKIE

FROM OTTAWA

Part of the 'Vision': An All-Canada Hydro-Power Grid

PRIME Minister John Diefenbaker has revived interest in the idea of a national power grid by dropping hints during the current pre-election campaign that such a development may be feasible in the not too distant future.

Mackie

Involved is an all-Canadian, north-south and east-west hook-up of hydro-electric power lines. It was part of the "vision" that helped Mr. Diefenbaker and his government get elected to office in 1957 and in 1958. There are indications that again in the coming election it will be presented as one of the long-term objectives of the present Conservative administration.

Mr. Diefenbaker put such a plan on the record in Kitimat, British Columbia, two years ago. He said that what Canada needed was a national power policy. Such a policy envisaged at its heart and centre a grid tying together the great reserves of power in the remote areas in Canada's north, a grid into which large quantities of surplus energy in electrical form could be poured at any time and taken off at any point.

Agriculture Minister Hamilton told the House that the government did not just talk about such a power grid. It had established a special research group on long-range transmission. He indicated that the premiers of British Columbia, Newfoundland and Quebec and the power commissions of Ontario and of Saskatchewan were all interested in the idea of a power grid.

The idea was again brought forward at the annual general meeting of the Progressive Conservative association this past spring. Here a policy background paper prepared for the meeting read:

"Steps have been taken to promote the most efficient use of electric power capacity in this country. To this end the government has entered into agreements with three provinces under the Atlantic Provinces Power Development act, in 1958. $40,000,000 has been provided for this purpose. The government also has taken the initiative in encouraging investigation into problems involved in the long-range transmission of power with a view to establishing a national power grid."

Certainly there are tremendous potential power resources available in Canada's northern areas. If they could be harnessed and carried to the southern, populated, industrial areas of the country it would provide great advantages—if the cost of the power could be kept within reasonable limits.

But before such a vast scheme could become a reality the provincial governments would have to participate in setting up the inter-provincial power lines. Whether Quebec would be prepared to go along remains to be seen. The new Liberal administration in that province might have reservations, as indicated recently by Hon. Rene Levesque, the Quebec resources minister.

There would have to be agreement between Ottawa and the provinces on the apportionment of development costs and the costs of the long range transmission lines.

In addition to these very real difficulties there are certain technical difficulties standing in the way of a Canada-wide power grid. The National Research Council has done some work in this field. Their findings point to the physical possibility of creating a national power grid. But whether such a scheme would be economically feasible is another question.

Mr. Diefenbaker again appears ready to make use of the "vision" in the coming general election campaign. It paid off in votes in the last election and there are Tories who advocate that it be used again. He may announce new steps for carrying forward the idea of a national power grid.

The tip-off seemed to come recently in Newfoundland where Mr. Diefenbaker dropped a hint that a national power grid was something that might soon be feasible. The pre-election campaign is underway in earnest. It looks as if the power grid idea has been dusted off, polished up and offered as part of the continuing vision.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Power—Free or Sold

It is time that the public was given the full facts on the Columbia River Power pact. Are we the people of British Columbia to give the U.S.A. all the extra power that is generated from the storage dams on the Columbia River system free to the State of Washington?

As Justice Minister D. Fulton is trying to do at present? Or are we to sell our surplus power which is generated south of the border, and the money to be used for construction of the dams on the Columbia system until paid for, as Premier W. A. C. Bennett is trying to do?

The Energy Board says that British Columbia has enough power for some years. So the extra power has to be given away free or sold. Which way is statesmanship?

No Joke

Not long ago in Sudbury, the father of a six-year-old boy was fined $10 and court costs for allowing the youngster to drive the parents' car to school.

On a CBC panel show the other night, we were somewhat surprised to note that this feat, although remarkable for a boy of six, ten years before the legal age, was treated as some kind of joke.

We have noticed on several other occasions on this show where other such incidents which consisted of law-breaking feats, were given a sort of glorification. This included the egg-throwing stunt by a young hoodlum at Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Another time we witnessed the act of a teen-age youth in tearing down the Canadian flag from the top of a government building in Ottawa and being replaced by a home-made flag which this youth thought should be Canada's flag. The fact that this youngster had caused damage to the tune of several hundred dollars to the taxpayers' property, and he could have been sent to jail for a long term, did not seem to bother the panel at all. This mis-guided youth was made a sort of "national hero."

We also saw a well-known colored female dancer being given great applause for taking part in the disgraceful rioting in the United Nations Assembly hall in New York. One other time a leader of the Quebec separatist movement was allowed to voice his views and get away with what could be considered as treason in many countries.

After viewing all of this, we might logically expect, now, to witness a parade of law-breakers on this program all telling how they robbed the bank, or beat an old man to death and so on. We wonder how long such farces will continue on the CBC.

Protests CD in School

By means of your paper I would like to add my voice to the growing protest against the School Board decision to start war survival drills in our schools. This is one of the most insidious moves in the propaganda campaign to convince people that "You too can survive a nuclear war."

We do not require the opinion of Civil Defence experts to tell us how the people of Hiroshima and Nagasaki were incinerated. We must expect that in a nuclear conflict, most of our children would suffer the same fate. The dangerous effect of this survival propaganda is that it misleads people into believing that most of us can survive a nuclear war, thus preventing them from contributing effectively towards policies of disarmament and peace.

It is most unfortunate that our School Board is bringing this propaganda to the children.

Go Ahead, U.S.

According to a recent article in the Times, U.S. Interior Secretary Stewart Udall is "getting discouraged" with the lack of Canadian progress in ratifying the "Columbia River power treaty" and says that if Canadians do not ratify the "treaty" within "the next few months" the U.S. will have to consider "alternative plans" for supplying more power in the U.S. Pacific northwest.

I suggest that they have "nuclear power" in mind (as was reported some time ago) and should be advised to go ahead and build "nuclear power plants" for production of electric power, as is today being done in parts of Europe.

As for the proposal to build the "High Arrow dam" on the Columbia River in B.C. and to flood the "River Valley" and drive about 3,000 people from their homes, that has caused grievous concern amongst many thousands of people in the B.C. interior and protests to Ottawa are many. To build that dam would be a national disgrace.

Helicopter Facilities

For some years there has been evidence of the need for an emergency helicopter landing site in our city zone, as provided in other progressive cities.

Few citizens seem aware that a hazardous landing was recently made by a helicopter on the grounds of the Royal Jubilee Hospital to cope with an emergency surgical case, thus indicating the deplorable lack of suitable helicopter landing facilities here to meet any emergency.

Nearly two years have elapsed since it was disclosed by qualified engineers that the cost of a suitable landing "square" in the Industrial Reserve area would be approximately $2,500 only, not a "minimum of $20,700," reported to the city's finance committee by engineers dreaming of a passenger traffic "heliport" (apparently not an economically sound project for Victoria at present.) The need of an emergency city landing site, however, seems obvious. Why delay it to Victoria's discredit?

Enos, My Brother

I have never been partial to monkeys. This may be due to an uncomfortable similarity between their appearance and certain class pictures taken when I was in the beginning grades of Margaret Jenkins School.

More recently the antipathy has arisen from their unpleasant odor and unseemly conduct in various zoos I have visited. Also, I've been plagued by the unhappy supposition that there, but for the grace of creation or evolution, as the case may be, go I.

Thanks to the picture we carried of Enos a few days ago, my reservations on monkeys are disappearing.

Enos, the chimp, as we pictured him, is the symbol of the Little Man, 1961. With an air of conscious, or unconscious, resignation he lies in his hangar couch staring off at nothing. He wears armbands and foot-contact plugs wished upon him by someone else. He looks as if he may believe he's going somewhere but isn't quite sure where.

Everything has been planned for Enos—as far as human planning can go. He's probably as well fed as any chimp in captivity or out of it. Perhaps no monkey in the world has had greater concern shown for his physical wellbeing. And on him the success of a major human experiment depends.

Enos looks bored. He'd probably be happier out in the woods swinging through the trees. Instead, he's trapped in the mesh of delicate equipment—equipment he doesn't understand but for which he has been taught to pull a lever or two under certain stimuli.

Enos, it might be argued, has come a long, long way from that point in time when his ancestors tossed coconuts at passers-by in the forest.

Maybe the scientists and engineers who designed his equipment for the round-around journey have come a long way since their ancestors tossed coconuts at passers-by in the forest also. Again, it depends on a theory of evolution or creation.

But whatever Enos may think, if he thinks at all, it's certain that what he was designed to do had very little in common with the expression of free will.

There are humans who consider themselves in a completely parallel situation. If they have the power to exercise free will—and that's a subject for nice philosophical discussion—they, like Enos, yield to the more impressive compulsions brought to bear on them.

To greater or lesser degree they're pushed here, shoved there, never quite sure why they're being manipulated nor where they're going. They respond to the carrot or the stick or both.

Sometimes the overwhelming compulsion is kindness. Sometimes it's sheer brutality. Sometimes it's an appetite. Sometimes it's a "cause." Sometimes it's the whim of an individual. Sometimes it's the pressure of society.

Perhaps Enos knows he's being pushed. Or maybe he escapes the impression of compulsion through human flattery. He's several rungs up the ladder from performing chimps in a television show and a long way ahead of his cousin who does back somersaults for Johnny Weissmuller in old Tarzan movies. Conceivably the highlight blinds him to pressures which move him.

In the picture in our paper, he seems resigned to the whole thing. He has been told that's the way it's going to be, whatever it is, and there's no escape.

Thank you, Enos, for showing me the error of my racial antipathy toward monkeys. Move over, my brother.

LONDON LETTER

Radioactive Heating

LONDON—A good word for radioactivity. One of the latest uses that has been found for it is discovering leaks in central heating systems that are buried in permanently-laid floors.

The idea is that a small rubber ball containing a pellet of irradiated sodium bicarbonate is placed inside the pipe at the boiler room. Then as it makes its way through the central heating its progress is monitored by Geiger counter.

A leak creates turbulence within the pipe and this stops the ball. It's then a simple matter to dig a small hole and get at the leak, rather than the alternative of having to dig up most of the system.

Cost of this radioactive leak-finder: A mere 30 cents.

And speaking of radioactivity, a Punch cartoon has the young host at a kids' party offering bottles of milk to his guests. Caption: "Russian roulette, anybody?"

Like to live in a real, genuine castle, complete with moat, drawbridge, the lot? There is one up for rent near Oswestry, in Shropshire, called Whittington Castle, where Dick of the same name is said to have once lived.

It's a snap, only $9 a week. And the reason the rental is only nominal is because its owner, Andrew Lloyd, feels that putting a tenant in there is the only answer to the vandalism that's been going on at the historic pile.

Our four-year-old Scott, eyes bugging at the advertised pictures of the castle, is of course all for moving in there right away. Look at those slits in the stone walls through which to fight off the invaders! But my wife's reaction: How would you heat it?

There's evil in weddings, according to the Rev. John Burden, Methodist minister of Milford Haven, South Wales. He's advocating that the toast of bride and groom should be drunk in soft drinks.

Says he: "Many young people get a first taste of alcohol at a wedding reception. It is often the beginning of a wasted life."

ROBERT G. MENZIES

ARTHUR A. CALWELL

A FIFTH TERM as prime minister of Australia is predicted for Robert G. Menzies, who is favored to win the election Saturday over his chief opponent Arthur Calwell. Observers believe Menzies' Liberals will retain their majority in the Lower House, which elects the prime minister, but concede the possibility of loss of a majority in the Upper House. Calwell heads the Australian Labor Party.

Canada Pushing Plans For Major Africa Role

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada, an ambassador to Cameroon as Canadian ambassador to Cameroon may later be appointed both in diplomacy and in trade among the newly independent states of Africa, according to government sources.

This lies behind the announcement by Canada's external affairs department that formal diplomatic relations are to be established with Tanganyika, which becomes an independent member of the Commonwealth Saturday, and the federal republic of Cameroon.

Canada will send a high commissioner to Tanganyika and

If Castro Really a 'Red' He'll Be Wild Says Author

NEW YORK (AP)—Herbert L. Matthews, author of the recently-published "The Cuban Story," questions Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's description of himself as a Marxist-Leninist.

"I don't believe anything he says," Matthews said in a speech Wednesday night at the Overseas Press Club. "He's fantastic, incredible."

Checkup for Hussein

LONDON (AP)—King Hussein of Jordan arrived by plane from Amman Thursday for a medical checkup and two weeks of rest. "I have been working terribly hard during the last two years," Hussein told a press conference, "and I was beginning to feel a bit tired out."

"Today Castro may believe he's a Communist, but tomorrow he may believe something else. I don't think you can give him a label. He's too wild, too disorganized."

Matthews, an editorial writer for the New York Times, interviewed Castro during the Cuban revolution four years ago and at that time called him dedicated to liberty, justice and democracy.

Matthews told reporters at the club that if Castro is indeed a Communist "he's going to be a very bad and unruly one."

He described Castro as "the most dangerous person to the United States who has ever arisen in the history of the Western Hemisphere." The Alliance for Progress, he said, is the answer to the Cuban revolution.

NEW PIPE LINE FINANCING SET

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Public financing of the nearly-completed Western Pacific Products and Crude Oil Pipeline is now reported to be ready for the 18th of the month with Wood, Gundy and Nesbitt Thompson handling the issue.

Expected is a $3 million debt instrument - common share package similar to that of the B.C. Gas Trunk issue and the story is that it is already well over-subscribed.

B.C. Cement Ltd. and Evans, Coleman and Evans Ltd., operating companies of Ocean Cement and Supplies Ltd., have embarked on a $2 million modernization program including the purchase of a new 65-foot, 700-hp steel tug, a 2,000-ton self-unloading barge and six 1,000-ton flat deck scows.

Also included in the program is a new bulk silo storage depot at New Westminster.

Growing importance of Japanese-Canadian commercial ties is seen in the announcement that the Bank of Montreal will soon be opening a representative's office in Tokyo. The office will handle Canadian clients' interests in the whole southeast Asia area as well as in Japan.

The move is being made following a recent tour of the Orient by J. Leonard Walker.

Continental Potash Corporation Ltd. is considering new financing, according to a feasibility study issued by the company.

An estimated $11 million will be needed to bring Continental's operation at Unity, Sask., into production and present thinking visualized an offering between now and next June of 1.5 million common shares in three 500,000 share lots priced at 60 cents, 75 cents and $1 a share.

Money Supply at Record Level

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian economy this year has been getting the largest dose of monetary expansion since the 1958 period of the government's bond conversion issue. A new Bank of Canada report shows the country's money supply hit a record of $14,867,000,000 on Nov. 29—an increase of $1,053,000,000 from a year earlier.

What's more, the rate of interest has been accelerating, with $944,000,000 of the increase occurring in the 24 weeks since June 14—the day after the open break between

Peace River Ore Passes Japan Tests

EDMONTON (CP)—Premier Steel Mills Ltd., Edmonton, has announced it will begin negotiations with Japanese steel interests for the sale of concentrated iron ore from its Peace River, Alta., deposits.

G. R. Heffernan, Premier general manager, said tests in Japan of 200 tons of briquettes from Peace River ore have been completed.

He said the tests "went extremely well, the Japanese were very happy with the results and the preliminary tests indicated scrap iron certainly can be replaced with iron briquettes, possibly with an advantage."

Tests were made by Fuji Iron and Steel, Japan's second largest steel manufacturer. Results of the tests are to be distributed among Japanese steel manufacturers. Mr. Heffernan said, and Premier is offering Japanese steel makers about 1,000,000 tons of briquettes a year, the equivalent of about 2,000,000 tons of ore.

High Beef Prices Will Remain Until February

OTTAWA (CP)—High-rising Canadian beef prices aren't expected to show any recession until February or later.

But neither are they due to rise much more because of the firm anchor of United States supplies, always ready to move in when Canadian prices increase enough.

Meanwhile, livestock marketing officials here said that the impending holiday season means more turkey and ham sales and that beef eaters won't be crowding store counters until after the festivities.

The price rise—12 cents a pound since July 1—is another result caused by Prairie drought.

ECM NEGOTIATIONS WILL FAIL—HAMILTON

CALGARY (CP)—The first round of negotiations for Britain's entry into the European Common Market will not succeed, Alvin Hamilton, federal minister of agriculture, predicted Thursday.

Agricultural trade policies will be the stumbling block, because the present members will not agree with British insistence that the ECM provide access for Commonwealth producers, he said.

Mr. Hamilton said Germany has the highest tariff rates and refuses to lower its protection of German farmers.

GOVERNMENT ASSUMES NEW POWERS

Drive on French 'Secret Army' Stepped Up

PARIS (Reuters)—The government today published a decree giving it sweeping powers to stamp out the already outlawed Secret Army Organization, violent opponent of Algerian independence.

The decree, published in the Official Gazette, provided fines and jail terms of from six to 24 months for persons taking part in "maintenance of constitution" of the Secret Army.

The terrorist organization was previously banned, but the decree gave the government of President Charles de Gaulle a freer hand in dealing with it.

The decree was reported to have been approved at a cabinet session Wednesday along with an order to speed up the hunt in France and Algeria for Secret Army members, sympathizers and financial supporters.

Secret Army agents hoisted its flag twice Thursday over City Hall here in shows of defiance. Firemen hauled the standard down both times.

The Secret Army, led by fugitive former Gen. Raul Salan, has launched a terrorist campaign to extort money from businessmen. Last week film star Brigitte Bardot said she would defy a demand for money from the group.

NON-UNION PICKET JUST WANTS MONEY

VANCOUVER (CP) — A non-union picket, who is being paid by a union to parade outside a downtown store to put "economic pressure" on the company in a Port Alberni wage dispute, wants an increase of 25 cents to boost his earnings from 75 cents to $1 an hour.

The 55-year-old unemployed janitor, who declined to give his name, said in an interview he has no sympathy for the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union (RWDSU) Local 1518 strike against Woolworths in Port Alberni. He just wants the money.

Port Alberni union members have been on strike since June. The union seeks $1.25 an hour recommended by conciliation, while the company won't budge from $1.

PEACE THREATENS ALBERNI

Mayor Mabel Trowned By Mere Man

Mayor Mabel Anderson of Alberni, the city's first woman mayor and certainly its most contentious, was defeated Thursday in her first bid for re-election to the post.

Victor in the election was Fred Bishop, who polled 1,005 votes to Mayor Anderson's 383. Her two-year term was highlighted by constant rows with her council over procedure, lengthy consultations with the Municipal Act, and battles against the expenditure of money.

34 VOTES SHORT

One of the chief targets of her criticism was the sewage system proposed by the council. Aldermen went over her head to have a $600,000 referendum on the ballot in the Thursday election, but it failed to make a 60 per cent majority by a margin of 34 votes.

She once smashed the glass top of her desk with her gavel, and on several occasions was voted out of the chair by the aldermen.

Mayor-elect Bishop had been an alderman for 10 years until his resignation from council a year ago with a month of his term yet to serve. He is a grandson of the city's first mayor, an Alberni merchant, and is best known as manager for the past 11 years of the championship Alberni Athletics basketball team.

In neighboring Port Alberni Mayor Loran K. Jordan had no trouble defending his seat against Alf Plant. Vote was 1,815 to 488.

MOORE WINS

Mayor Bill Moore of Courtenay staved off a challenge from former alderman Mrs. Myrtle Vickberg, 622 to 356.

In North Cowichan Reeve Donald Morton, standing for re-election for the first time, defeated contender James Gordon 1,669-861.

Reeve Morton lives at Somers, in the southern portion of sprawling North Cowichan, while Mr. Gordon is from Chemainus.

DIVIDED

Some might term his election a victory for the southern faction of the municipality, which was sharply divided earlier this year on a hospital issue.

However, ratepayers chose from among the five council candidates Mrs. Elaine Dobbins of the south end, who led the polls with 1,276 votes in her first try for council, and Coun. Reg Clegg of Westholme, a representative of the north end, who received 1,143 votes.

With no mayoralty contest in Nanaimo, interest centred on the aldermanic vote, where newcomer A. W. McDonald, a young businessman, scored an upset win to lead the polls with 1,756 votes.

Ald. William McGregor came second to retain his seat, but Ald. John Cook joined Edward Bourke and Robert Amos in defeat.

HUSBAND, WIFE

One of the few husband and wife teams in civic politics will start work at Parksville in January.

Mrs. Pauline Touzeau, for many years a school trustee, was re-elected by acclamation and her husband, Ernest Touzeau, led the polls in his first try for a seat on the village commission.

N.Y. RACE TRACKS YIELD $98 MILLION IN TAXES

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—New York State collected a record $98,500,000 in taxes from its three flat tracks—Aqueduct, Belmont and Saratoga—and eight harness tracks during the 1961 horse racing season.

The increase of $2,000,000 from 1960 was collected on an over-all racing season this year of 924 days, 15 more than last year.

The State Tax Department says that in the 22 years pari-mutuel racing has been legal in New York, the state has taken in more than $1,000,000,000 from the sport.

SPORTS DIARY

By JIMMY CANNON

NEW YORK—The spectacular achievements of sports are generally measured against the horizons of the athlete's generation. The people of Benny Leonard's time claim he was the greatest lightweight. Those who were young when Joe Foss was held out for him.

It is still Bobby Jones or Ben Hogan. My elders ridicule my arguments describing how Joe Louis would handle Jack Dempsey. The patriarchy insist Jack Johnson would find them both easy. They are all members of that glittering company of immortals who endure in clockless fame. I put Jimmy Brown in this museum of memory while he is working at his game.

There is never any doubt about Hans Wagner. It is as though no one ever played short before or after he did. That goes for Man o' War. This summer some racing reporters had Kelso beating Citation. But, even in recollection where not a deuce is bet, they never put either of them in the same gate with Man o' War.

Bronko Depended on Strength Alone

There's one jockey and that's Eddie Arcaro. The tennis player was Bill Tilden and you won't get many protests if you identify Bob Cousy as the definitive basketball player. You come down to Jimmy Brown and he has to be the greatest of all ball carriers in all the autumns of football.

Of course, you can't ignore Red Grange. His feats were genuine and dramatic. But his reputation is founded on what he did for the University of Illinois.

The exceptional player doesn't compete against his equals across a college schedule. The pros offer true resistance. When Grange did it for money, the professional sport was a minor one.

That's what makes me doubt Jim Thorpe. He was great but I don't think he was in Brown's class. If he was inspired, Thorpe performed with style and dedication. But that never happened often enough and Brown does it every Sunday against the greatest teams ever assembled in all the seasons of the game.

I know how great Bronko Nagurski was. But he depended on strength alone and made his advance in restricted jungles. He wasn't fast but he was durable and powerful. If I had a choice, I'd take Marion Motley and Brown over him. It's not a difficult choice, although I appreciate Nagurski's legend.

He lasted a long time and that helps. I remember him coming back to the Chicago Bears during the war. He would reach the first down most of the time when they had to have it and he was hard to get down.

"He made me a better passer," said Sid Luckman, who with Sammy Baugh must be the greatest of quarterbacks. "He said he wasn't in shape and complained about it all the time. That's the only time I ever saw him. He was the best I've ever seen and he claimed he wasn't in shape."

The complete football player was Motley. He could run inside or out and block. He played all the way and was a quick and positive line-backer. But he wasn't as fast as Brown, who, judged by the single act of running with a football, is the greatest ever.

The lines Brown runs against are bigger and quicker than the ones that opposed Nagurski and Motley. In Nagurski's time, Cal Hubbard was considered a freak because of his immense size. But there's at least a couple like him on every team in the league now. The defenses are more intelligent and better coached.

Giants Played Brown, Not Browns

The other 10 guys on the field are merely accessories. He is the Browns' offence. They give it to him and sometimes he runs 34 times during a game. The Giants concentrated on him last time they met and the Browns were beaten. They played Jimmy Brown, not the Cleveland Browns, although they deny it.

The defensive unit of the Giants is the best ever put together. They discuss Jimmy Brown as if he was a force of nature instead of a football player.

"My shoulder is killing me from tackling him," Jimmy Patton said. "I hit him once and I like to die the pain was so bad. But when he got up, I saw he limped just a little bit. What a good feeling that was."

"I had a shot at him," said Dick Modolewski, who was hitting. "I had a shot at him. I said I'll kill him. I hit him good as I ever hit anybody. And I never budged him. I wound up holding an ankle."

"He is," said Andy Robustelli, "the greatest."

I think he is the greatest, going back to football's beginnings.

CALGARY MAKES BID

Davis Just Waiting For Best Pro Offer

NEW YORK (AP)—Ernie Davis says he's not interested in becoming a guinea pig in a professional football racial dispute.

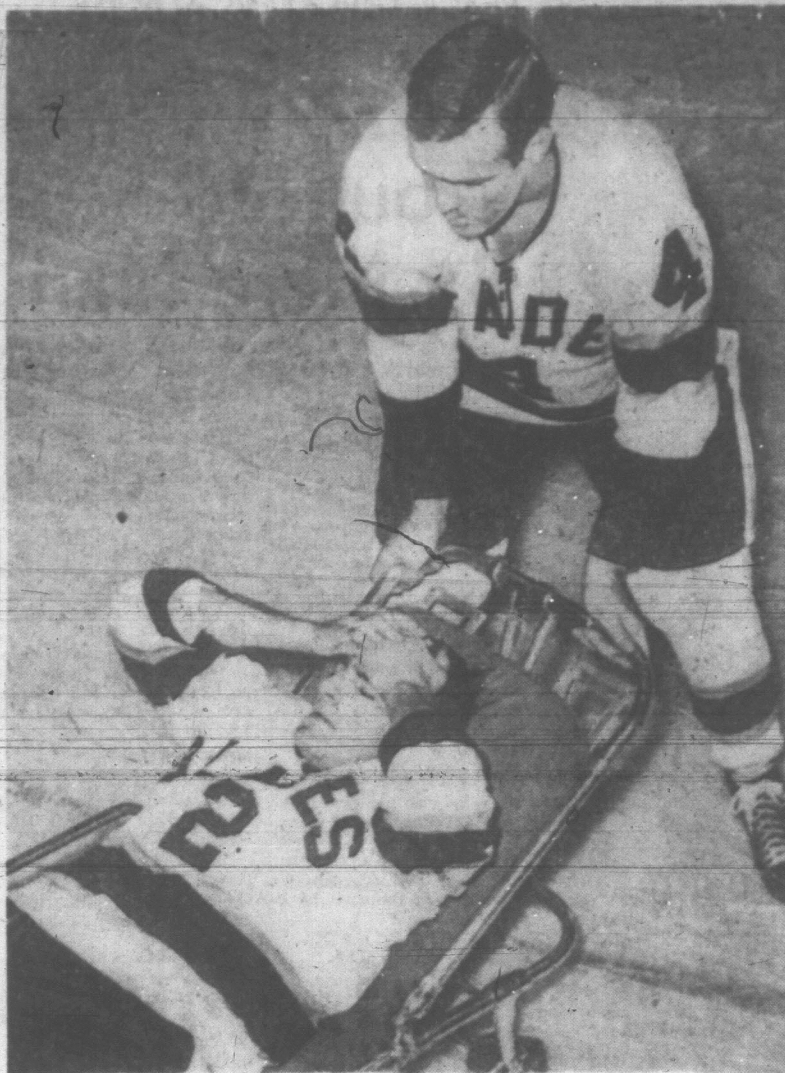

"I wish they would quit bringing up this race stuff," the great Syracuse University football star said. "I just want to play football and I'll go where I can get the best offer."

The 210-pound speedster, who smashed Jimmy Brown's ball-carrying and total offense records at Syracuse, Wednesday night became the first Negro in 27 years to receive the Heisman Trophy as the best United States college player of the year.

Now he finds himself the pawn in a tug-of-war between the National and American football leagues on the one hand and the U.S. government and George Marshall's Washington Redskins on the other.

Davis, 21, was the first pick in the NFL draft.

Mrs. G. H. Lovett, Mrs. G. D. Ball and Mrs. W. Herbert were medal-round winners in the recent ladies' day at Up-lands Golf Club.

TOUGH NIGHT FOR EX-CATS

It was unhappy Western Hockey League game Thursday night at Los Angeles for two former members of Victoria Cougars. Blades' defence-man Don McLeod, assisted by ex-Cougar Jean-Marc Picard, is taken from ice on stretcher after suffering severe cartilage injury to left knee. Vancouver's Hugh Currie later suffered torn back ligaments. Currie and McLeod, both with Victoria last season, travelled to hospital in same ambulance. Canucks and Blades battled to 4-4 tie. (AP Wirephoto.)

WHL Cost-Conscious —2 Go in 1 Ambulance

Vancouver Canucks and Los Angeles Blades turned on each other with a vengeance Thursday night in a battle between the last-place clubs in the Western Hockey League's northern and southern divisions.

Two players wound up in the hospital and there were a total of 14 penalties, three of them majors for fighting, as the teams struggled to a 4-4 overtime tie before 5,000 fans at Los Angeles.

The Blades, cellar-dwellers of the Southern Division, forced the tie with a power-play goal late in the third period after twice blowing one-goal leads.

Vancouver goals were scored by Paul Andrea, Wayne Hall, Murray Wilkie and playing-coach Phil-Maloney. Willie O'Ree, Terry Slater, Bruce Carmichael and Danny Belisle answered for Los Angeles.

BELISLE KNOTTED IT
Belisle, an ex-Canuck, connected with Vancouver's Bob McCusker in the penalty box at 16:21 of the third period to force the overtime period.

The clubs were tied 1-1 after the first period and 2-2 after the second.

Each club lost a defenceman through injuries. Don McLeod of Los Angeles was knocked unconscious in a collision with Vancouver's Dale Anderson and Canucks' Hugh Currie suffered torn ligaments in his back when fanned into the boards by Ralph Keller.

McLeod, who injured his left knee, and Currie were both hurt in the first period and rode to hospital side by side in the same ambulance.

RUNNING FEUD
Adding to the hostilities was a running feud between O'Ree, the only Negro ever to play in the National League, and Wilkie. The pair tangled briefly.

Vic Power Agrees To Work With Mel

CLEVELAND (AP)—Gabe Paul, general manager of Cleveland Indians said Thursday he has signed Vic Power for the 1962 baseball season and received assurance the fancy-fielding first baseman would co-operate with the Indians' new manager, Mel McGaha.

He signed Power during a lengthy meeting in New York Wednesday, at which discipline and rules of conduct were discussed.

CALGARY MAKES BID
Davis also was drafted by Buffalo Bills of the AFL. He says he has been approached by several Canadian teams, with Calgary Stampede making a particularly good offer.

On top of this, Harry Wismer, owner of the AFL New York Titans, says he will try to get the rights to Davis from Buffalo and will pay Ernie $100,000 for three years, plus a $25,000 bonus.

Would Marshall's past attitude about signing a Negro player affect his decision?

"Not at all. I don't worry about the racial issues. He is a good businessman. If he makes me the best offer, I'll take it."

FAIRWAYS' FAIREST
Mrs. G. H. Lovett, Mrs. G. D. Ball and Mrs. W. Herbert were medal-round winners in the recent ladies' day at Up-lands Golf Club.

Leafs Fail to Get That 80 Per Cent

Habs' 4-1 Win Stretches Lead To Four Points

"Goaling is more than 65 per cent of a hockey team," said Toronto coach Punch Imlach. "I'd have to say about 80 per cent."

The remarks were made just before Thursday's National Hockey League game between the Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens. When it was over, truer words were never spoken.

Canadiens' goalie Jacques Plante came up with another sparkling game and Montreal downed Toronto 4-1, taking a four-point lead over the Leafs for first place. It was the fastest cushion any team had so far this season.

Toronto, still without first-string goal-keeper Johnny Bower, got good work out of replacement Don Simmons for two periods, but one crazy goal and a brief defensive collapse in the third period beat them.

Rangers Tie Wings

In other games, New York's one-time league-leading Rangers managed only a 3-3 tie with the fifth-place Detroit Red Wings and stayed in third place, two points behind Toronto.

Behind them, Chicago Black Hawks started looking like the Stanley Cup champions they are as they easily battered Phil Watson's bottom-place Boston Bruins 5-2.

Five different players got the Chicago goals: Al McDonald, Bronco Horvath, Bill (Red) Hay, Jerry Melnyk, and Ron Murphy.

McDonald was the only Black Hawks player to pick up more than one point—he assisted on Horvath's goal.

Boston's Charlie Burns scored both his team's goals, breaking goalie Glenn Hall's shutout at 5:58 of the third period and clicking again at 17:08, when it was too late to matter much.

Alex Stands Out

Little Camille Henry was a two-goal scorer for New York but the Rangers' efforts were nullified at 15:24 of the third period when Detroit's Alex Delvecchio fired a 40-foot screen shot past goalie Gump Worsley and tied the game.

Delvecchio was the game's individual hero, setting up the other two Detroit goals by Vic Stasiuk and Marcel Pronovost. Jean Ratelle got the other Ranger goal.

In Montreal, the Leafs were thoroughly outplayed in the first period but Simmons' brilliance in making 14 stops saved them. In the second period, Bobby Plumpford's shot caught the inside corner behind Plante and gave the Leafs the lead. It was only the eighth goal Plante has allowed in seven games.

What broke Toronto's back was Ralph Backstrom's first of two goals. Just as the period drew to an end, he let go a hard, blue-line shot. Simmons blocked it with his pads. The puck dropped to the ice and kept rolling. Simmons apparently lost sight of it and stood like a statue as it rolled casually into the net.

Fired up, the Canadiens stormed back to get three goals in two minutes and 17 seconds of the last period. Don Marshall got a clean goal off Backstrom's setup at 1:17 and then set up Backstrom's second goal. Gilles Tremblay ended it at 3:27.

Ticats Favor Present Rules

HAMILTON (CP)—Hamilton Tiger-Cats don't want Canada's football rules changed.

"The Tiger-Cat football club will oppose any change in the rules at the annual meeting of the Canadian Football League's rules committee," Tiger-Cat president J. C. Gaudaur said Thursday.

He was commenting on a report that the Ticats, who lost to Winnipeg Blue Bombers in this year's Grey Cup game, favor 11-man teams instead of the present 12.

Gaudaur admitted he had once said the Canadian game could be opened up, if that is deemed necessary, by reducing the squad to 11 men, as in the United States.

'Peg Golfer Has 65 But Tied For First

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP)—George Knudson, 24-year-old former Winnipeg golfer, now playing out of Toronto, shot a blistering six-under-par 65 here Thursday, but still had to be content to be part of a three-way tie for first place in the $20,000 Coral Gables Open golf tournament.

Emilio Miartuz, an Argentine with a hot wedge and Bill Farrell of Springfield, N.J., 26-year-old son of a former National Open winner, tied with Knudson after the opening round of play which saw a wholesale massacre of the par 71 course.

Forty-eight golfers shattered par and 17 others equalled it. Miartuz and Farrell carded 32-33. Knudson was 31 going out and 34 on the back nine. A stroke behind the leaders with 66s were Dan Sikes of Jacksonville, Fla., and Gordon Jones of Orlando, Fla.

MORE SPORT PAGES 11, 12

Bracketed at 68 were Ed Furgol, Bob Pratt, Bill Ezinicki, Jim Ferree and Tom Lema.

Al Balding of Toronto shot a 33-69 to tie with 11 others, while Al Johnston of Montreal had 34-36-70 and part of a 23-way tie at that point.

OBSTACLES? LIKE WHAT?

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sonny Liston says he doesn't know what obstacles stand between himself and a shot at Floyd Patterson's heavyweight title.

Cus D'Amato, manager of Patterson, said earlier this week Liston knew what obstacles had to be removed before he got a title fight.

"I don't know what he means," said the No. 1 ranked challenger for Patterson's crown. "I guess I'll have to ask him."

'FIGHTING' FLOYD NAMED

Ring Supplies Today's Chuckle

(Times News Services)
Yes, Virginia, boxing has its comical moments.

The New York Journal-American Wednesday took an editorial poke at the "bloody mismatch" in which Floyd Patterson kept his heavyweight championship by creaming Tom McNeely in the fourth round at Toronto on Monday.

"The sport of boxing," said the paper, "plummeted to a new low in its cynical disregard for the public with the staging of that so-called heavy weight championship fight in Toronto."

New low? In New York Ring Magazine named Floyd Patterson fighter of the month for his "feat" of felling McNeely.

Said the newspaper: "This sort of bloody mismatch once was staged in bars and on river barges for the amusement of local sports."

"Now it is trotted out in full view of a live and nationwide television audience which had its pockets picked by the greedy manipulators who control what is laughingly referred to as 'the game'."

Announced Ring solemnly: McNeely has been dropped from the list of top 10 challengers for the crown. Last month he was rated ninth.

Also cut from the list was Toronto's George Chuvalo. He had been No. 10. The only Canadian in the ratings is Canadian heavyweight King

Bob Cleroux of Montreal, who moved up to fifth from sixth position.

Zora Folley, who blitzed England's Henry Cooper with a second-round knockout earlier this week, jumped to third from seventh behind Sonny Liston and Eddie Machen.

Cooper tumbled to sixth. Chuvalo was dropped because he lost his Canadian crown to Cleroux and then was disqualified for butting in a match against unranked Joe Erskine of Wales.

CURLERS' CORNER

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Sliding quickly out of the hack . . .
Victoria Curling Club hopes of expanding into a family-type sports centre aren't dead yet. Just resting. Executives are still very optimistic, and they're waiting to hear if city council will sell the club adjoining land required for expansion. The city's answer is expected in mid-January.

Two games at Esquimalt tonight herald the start of Consols (provincial) playdowns by local rinks.
Eight rinks at Esquimalt are competing for the right to advance to the Island finals while 11 are entered in the Victoria Club playdowns, to be run off Jan. 25.
Skips entering rinks at Esquimalt are Clarence Dobbyn, Jack Moir, Bill Brown, Tom More, Trev Emberton, Wes Young, George Slocumb and John Clint. Title aspirants at VCC are Don Moss, skipping perhaps the youngest rink on the island: Elmer Hoffman, Bernie Beach, Tony Gutoski, Steve Hayhurst, Ken Sturrock, Gordie Moore, Larry Marshall, Jim Dickson, Walter Gallagher and Earl McBride.
Play is already under way at Alberni, Nanaimo and Courtenay. Four rinks entered at Duncan are defending champion Fred Duncan, Glen Harper, Tom McQueen and Sam Koffski.

The hastily-promoted visit of Canadian curling champion Hec Gervais to Victoria earlier this week attracted only a handful of spectators to the Esquimalt Sports Centre. Poor scheduling (the two afternoon games against an Esquimalt rink skipped by Gary Leibel) didn't help the promoter's cause. It also accentuated the fact that a one-time winner of the national championship does not have the same drawing power that might be expected of three-time winners Ken Watson and Matthew Baldwin.

Jim Dickson's rink picked up first prize in the Totem bonspiel's second primary event, but the Victoria skip is still feeling blue. The big Vancouver 'spiel ended two weeks ago, but Jim can't forget the fact that he missed an eight-ender. He was a foot short on a draw.

Harper, who won the provincial championship in 1960, had little trouble with Gervais in their exhibition match at Duncan Tuesday night. They packed it up after the 10th end when Harper counted five to clinch his 16-8 victory. The Duncan icemaker, supported by Harvey Hodge, Vern Kaspick and Alme Moulis, again appears to be a big threat in Island playdowns.

There's more fuel being thrown into the fire that was ignited last year by VCC members who were worried about the possible damaging effect that might be expected from a second rink (Esquimalt) in the district. VCC boasts 80 new men members and the evening ladies' tally went up by two full rinks. There also happens to be a waiting list of other ladies who wish to curl in the evening division.
"If that's the effect," muttered VCC member Larry (Deacon) Marshall the other day, "let's all hope that Saanich and Oak Bay also will build rinks soon."

The local curling boom has also caught up to high school curlers. Victoria Club's high school leagues show an increase of 50 over last year. Reasonable dues (school curlers can play for less than 15 cents a game), and excellent ice time (starting at noon on Saturday) have figured greatly in attracting young curlers.
High school playdowns will get under way Monday with rinks from Oak Bay, Vie High and Mount Douglas hoping to advance to the provincial playdowns.
Six teams from the Saturday Junior league, incidentally, will represent VCC in the third annual Pacific Coast Curling Association bonspiel at Vancouver, Dec. 27-29.
They'll have quite a reputation to uphold.
Rinks skipped by Les Brice and last year by Roger Pick won the first two boys' bonspiels.

If Arch Has Plans It's News to Eddie

MONTREAL (CP)—Suspended boxing promoter Eddie Quinn said Thursday he hasn't seen or heard from light-heavyweight boxing champion Archie Moore since Moore's scheduled battle against Bob Cleroux was postponed indefinitely Tuesday.
Quinn, who announced the postponement because of poor box office receipts, had his boxing promoter's licence suspended by the Montreal Athletic Commission on grounds that he gave insufficient reasons for the postponement.
Asked about a report that Moore is returning to Canada to explore the possibilities of rescheduling the match or "possibly to sue somebody," Quinn said the report is news to him.
"We had started negotiations to find new dates for the show, but since my licence has been suspended by the commission I'm not able to say anything about a rescheduling."

Eagle's Eye Excellent But Signing Them . . . ?

EDMONTON (UPI)—Coach Eagle Keys of the Edmonton Eskimos figures his scouting of U.S. college football talent is "just too good."

And you couldn't blame him.
Keys, a former University of Kentucky player, took one look at the United Press International all-America team Wednesday and threw up his hands.

JUST TOO GOOD

"We've had six out of 11 first team players on our negotiation list," he said. "That looks good but how are we going to sign them? I guess our scouting is just too good."

The six UPI all-Americans included the entire backfield: Sandy Stephens of Minnesota, Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, Ernie Davis of Syracuse, as well as end Gary Collins of Maryland, and tackles Billy Neighbors of Alabama and Merlin Olsen of Utah State.

Canadian Football League teams do not draft U.S. college players. Instead they place them on a 20-man negotiation list, giving them sole Canadian rights to deal with the player.

What makes it even tougher for Keys is fact that three of the six stars were No. 1 draft choices by NFL teams: Davis (Washington), Ferguson (Pittsburgh), Collins (Cleveland) and Olsen (Los Angeles). Stephens as the No. 2 choice of Cleveland and Neighbors the No. 4 pick of the Redskins.

Keys, whose Eskimos finished second in the five-team western conference this year after winning the division title a year ago, said hereafter he may be forced to concentrate "not so much on the big names but on some of the lesser known players and the sleepers."

"It's nice to have these guys on our list, but how are you going to sign them? We'll be lucky to sign any of them," he added.

Keys did sign one U.S. college standout, however, Memphis State quarterback James Earl Wright. Keys invited the injured Wright to attend Canada's national pro championship Grey Cup last Saturday in Toronto. Wright signed during the weekend.

Keys also said that he had taken Saxton, the Texas halfback who runs down jackrabbits as well as touchdowns, off his list because "he looks too small for this game." Asked who he would choose if he had a choice between Ferguson and Davis, Keys said he'd take the 217-pound Ferguson.

"I think he's a better prospect," Keys said. "He played in a tougher conference and he seems to be more consistent."

Murdoch Re-Elected, Cox Again Tops Poll

'Last Term' As Reeve

Oak Bay voters Thursday gave Reeve George Murdoch his second two-year term in the chief magistrate's chair.

He defeated Coun. Gordon Elworthy, by 256 votes in a contest which saw the reeve's 1959 majority sharply reduced.

For Mr. Murdoch it will be a total of 18 years on council—five as reeve—after which he plans to retire. He received 1,619 votes.

In the three-man race for reeve—first triple-choice ballot in at least 10 years—newcomer Jack Barracough ran last, trailing Mr. Elworthy by 604 votes.

COX LEADS

A five-way contest for three council seats saw Coun. Allan Cox lead the poll for the second time in two years with 3,192 votes, walking away from his nearest opponent by 645 votes. The lawyer won his second two-year term, which will make a total of five years on council.

Of the 9,308 qualified voters in Oak Bay, 45.1 per cent cast ballots, 1 1/2 per cent fewer than in 1959's reeveship election and 4.76 per cent fewer than in the record 1948 vote when 49.86 per cent of voters exercised their franchise.

THIRD HIGHEST

But the turnout was still the third highest of the last 15 years.

By noon it appeared that a record might be established, better than 50 per cent of those eligible, but the trend levelled off during the afternoon.

Ballotting ranged between 200 and 400 an hour from noon to 6 p.m., jumped to 475 by 7, then spurted to 639 in the final hour for a total 3,752.

In the first returns Mr. Elworthy took a 50-vote lead over Mr. Murdoch.

There was no change between 8.30 and 10 p.m. when final results were posted in the reeveship race.

NEVER LOST

First council count came at 9 p.m., giving Mr. Cox a lead he never relinquished.

New faces on council will be those of Walter Dodsworth, who polled 2,547 votes, and William Wade, with 1,836.

Mr. Dodsworth, an ex-RCMP, now business manager and active in Victoria Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. Wade, a provincial government employee, will sit for two years.

Norman Pittam, twice an unsuccessful candidate in Oak

... "my last term as reeve."

Bay, got 1,444 votes; Douglas Gage, a newcomer, received 1,224.

There were 58 rejected council ballots and 10 spoiled reeveship ballots.

Only 11 people voted in the advance poll, clerk-returning officer E. H. Hart reported.

"I am very happy to be re-elected again, although not with the same majority as on a previous occasion," Reeve Murdoch said.

(He defeated ex-councillor Geoffrey Ellis 2,892-761 in 1959.)

LAST TERM

"I hope during this term of office, which will be my last as a representative for Oak Bay ratepayers, I will be able, with a sound council elected, to carry on the management of affairs in the same businesslike manner they have been carried on in the past.

"It is my last term as reeve. God willing, but I will continue to be helpful to the people of Oak Bay as long as I draw breath," he said.

Mr. Elworthy, who campaigned on a revision of council methods and establishment of recreation facilities, said:

OFFERS TO HELP

"It appears the people of Oak Bay are not prepared to change their reeve. If there is any way I can help him in the future I'd be more than happy to do so... particularly with regard to a recreation centre.

"Personally, I am going to enjoy the holiday. But I may be back in two years."

Coun. Cox said: "It was very gratifying to head the poll again. Once having done it, the only way to expect to go is down." He beat his last poll by 3,192 to 2,836 votes.

Judo Course Urged For City Policemen

Judo training for city policemen will be proposed by Commissioner Gordon Carter at the next meeting of the police commission.

"I am going to use every effort to get this training instituted by the first of the year," he said.

Mr. Carter was commenting on a city policeman's admission he struck a violently struggling prisoner to subdue him.

"I don't know all the details," Mr. Carter said, "but police have to use force in certain circumstances. Of course, how much force is necessary is a debatable point.

"I will ask for a report from the chief on this, although I will back our police 99 times out of 100."

He said he's been advocating that police receive judo training for many years now.

BIG HELP

"Other cities give their men this training long before they ever go on the beat. It is a great help in rendering a difficult person harmless," he said.

"And it also protects the policeman—we have had a few cases in the past where the policemen have received broken arms and other injuries."

White Slave Victim, Girl Badly Beaten

MONTREAL (CP)—City police Thursday smashed a white slavery ring which had kidnapped a pretty 15-year-old girl Nov. 20 and forced her into prostitution. The ring, police said, was preparing to sell the girl to another ring in Toronto for $500 when police raided a pool hall and two apartments.

Three men were arrested in the pool hall. One of them faced at least seven charges. A number of other persons, including a young girl, were arrested in the raids on the two apartments.

Lt.-Det. Rene Mongeau said the 15-year-old white slavery victim bore the marks of repeated beatings.

Mongeau, who identified the girl as Suzanne Quesnel, quoted her as saying she heard during her ordeal that a similar fate to hers happened to Denise Therrien, 16, missing several weeks from her home in Shawinigan South, Que.

He said the ringleaders beat her and gave her ice-cold baths to force her into submission.

She said she was kept in a room behind the pool hall. The ringleaders demanded $30 from clients.

Police found her after her photograph was published in a Montreal newspaper and a man recognized the girl in a restaurant adjoining the pool hall.

He reported to the police.

"Marrying"—can it make a whisky taste better?

"Judge for yourself," says Tom Chant, who 'marries' our whisky.

"I blend matured whiskies, then leave them lie in the cask till they're formed into one light taste. That's 'marrying'. Tricky. I have to get the timing just right, keep the whiskies cool, undisturbed, let them make their perfect taste.

"We're proud of Bonded Stock at Gooderham & Worts. It's very popular—has been for generations. And when you taste Bonded Stock, you'll appreciate the skill and craftsmanship that go into making it the whisky it is."

Fullest Co-Operation Pledged JFK by Labor

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP)—Labor union leaders generally took kindly today to President Kennedy's appeal for more liberal foreign trade policies.

Kennedy delivered a plea Thursday to the AFL-CIO's convention, as he had done the day before to the National Association of Manufacturers in

New York, for support in Congress next year for broader tariff cutting powers.

The president's theme, as expressed to both groups, is that both business and labor are bound to suffer unless they bid successfully for a greater share in expanding foreign markets.

To business he warned that to do otherwise will mean dwindling profits, to labor he said the alternative is dwindling jobs. And he said lack of a favorable trade balance will mean that the U.S. will have to pull home its armies from abroad.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said Kennedy: "Don't worry about us—we'll co-operate 1,000 per cent."

OTHERS DUBIOUS

But other influential labor chiefs said they want to see the administration spell out the pledge Kennedy made in his speech that workers, industries and communities hurt by rising imports would be taken care of under a proposed new adjustment plan.

"Whatever is required," the president promised, "we will make certain that no community suffers unduly from trade. For, on the contrary, America must trade—or suffer."

FLUORIDATION LOSES IN 4 OUT OF 5 VOTES

VANCOUVER (CP)—One of five British Columbia communities gave the nod Thursday to the idea of adding fluorides to drinking water to try and improve dental health.

The plebiscites, in conjunction with the province's civic elections, were held in villages and cities as far north as Dawson Creek, east to Kamloops and southwest to Powell River and Langley.

Kamloops City, in the southern interior gave a decisive "Yes" vote to the issue, while neighboring North Kamloops turned the plebiscite down. The figures in Kamloops were Yes 1,215, No 776, and in North Kamloops, Yes 792, No 577.

Elsewhere the fluoridation vote went: Langley Yes 218, No 291; Powell River Yes 1,098, No 1,497; Dawson Creek Yes 653, No 873.

Labor's Hope Dashed On Technical School.

Hopes that the provincial government would build a technical and vocational training school here were dashed for Victoria Labor Council Wednesday.

In a letter to council from Labor Minister Leslie Peterson, delegates were told the government plans regional vocational schools in five areas of B.C., but not Victoria.

"Victoria is no different than many other cities in the province in wanting a vocational school in its area," the minister wrote.

NO PLANS

The government has no plans to build more vocational schools until the present program is completed.

Institutions will be built in Burnaby, serving the lower mainland; Kelowna, serving the Okanagan, and Nelson, serving the Kootenays, he said.

A school is under construction in Prince George, serving the northern interior, and extensions are going on the Vancouver Vocational School and the three-year-old Nanaimo Tech.

LIMITED

The minister pointed out there are limited vocational training facilities here, turning out nursing aides and expansion is planned for 1962-63.

He said $15,000,000 is the budgeted amount of current and projected work, which he said was substantial.

The council executive suggested a reply to Mr. Peterson's letter should state the facilities in Victoria are inadequate for a population of between 130,000 and 140,000.

BE DISCREET

Secretary A. W. Toone said all government members should be discreet about naming figures on education.

Efforts to provide more educational facilities should be redoubled.

"If I were in that position, I should be ashamed of mentioning a figure of $15,000,000 for education," Mr. Toone said.

BRAKES FAILED IN FATALITY

Car Inspections Urged By Jury After 10 Years

LADYSMITH—Government inspection of all vehicles of 10 years or older was recommended by a coroner's jury hearing evidence into the death by drowning a week ago of Ralph Wilcox.

Verdict was of accidental death, with no blame attached. He was a passenger in a 1940 car driven by Michael Kottilla which plunged off the end of the government wharf here into 25 feet of water. Kottilla and the other passenger, Michael Battie, escaped. All three were juveniles.

Kottilla said that he had no braking action on the ramp leading to the wharf, and that changing to second gear did not help.

"The next thing I knew we were in the water," he said. He and Battie escaped by smashing the windows.

Racing Pigeons To Be Displayed

Racing pigeons from Vancouver Island, and the lower mainland will be displayed in the Kings Road Hall Saturday morning at the Victoria Pigeon Racing Association annual show.

The birds have flown in competition from 100 to 600 miles during the year competing for a number of trophies. Nearly 300 pigeons will be displayed from 9 a.m. Saturday to 3 p.m. Sunday, when presentation of prizes will close the show.

Club officials have issued an open invitation to the public for the two days.

ROCKET SUPPOSED TO SET FLARES

Plan to Light Up Space

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (AP)—A rocket designed to set off flares in space for an earth-measuring experiment shot skyward today.

The air force said the flares, not visible to the naked eye, would be photographed by special cameras on land and at sea. About 15 minutes after the 32-foot solid-fuel Astrobee rocket was launched from Point Arguello, it had streaked to a point 900 miles away and 1,361 miles above the Pacific. The air force termed the launching a success. The rocket carried a 90-pound payload.

Plans called for the flares, each with 62,000,000 candle-power, to be set off at altitudes of 920 miles, 1,140 miles and again at 900 miles on the way down.

The experiment, called project Cambridge, was designed to help scientists measure more precisely the distance between points on the earth's surface.

'62 Outlook Bright For B.C. Business

BINGO CALLER CONVICTED OF RIGGING

VANCOUVER (CP)—A suburban Richmond bingo caller Thursday was convicted on a charge of cheating with intent to defraud.

"This is not a matter for a fine," said Magistrate Gordon Scott, remanding 44-year-old Clifford Olsen until today for sentence.

Olsen was arrested Aug. 17 when police raided a bingo game. Mrs. Elizabeth Gariepy testified at his trial she received a "lucky" card from Olsen a few days before the game. She said she won on seven or eight previous occasions with lucky cards.

"This was a continuing, well-planned offence, not something done on the spur of the moment," said the magistrate.

'Don't Treat Canadians As Texans'

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP)—A senior official of the Canadian Labor Congress has filed a warning with the AFL-CIO against taking the 750,000 members of American unions living in Canada too much for granted.

William Dodge, executive vice-president of the CLC, speaking to the 3,000 delegates and guests at the AFL-CIO convention here Thursday, warned: "Don't treat Canadians as if they were Texans or New Yorkers."

"Canada," he said, "is an independent nation and Canadians are very determined not to be regarded as if they were citizens of a 51st state."

Dodge said 70 per cent of the CLC's 1,150,000 members belong to branches of U.S. unions. But he said they have separate problems and considerable pride in their own country and resent being regarded as orphans.

HOLD OWN VIEWS

"Don't expect Canadians to reflect American viewpoints in international affairs, the problems of international trade, domestic economic policy, and political action," he said.

"Canadians are developing a strong sense of independence in these matters, an independence which applies equally to British and any other outside influences."

Nineteen sixty-one: very mediocre; 1962: much brighter.

That's how executives sum up the economy of the province.

Their tabulated opinions are contained in the provincial bureau of economics business outlook for 1962, released Thursday by Trade Minister Robert Bonner.

"Business executives generally anticipate a fairly substantial improvement in activity during 1962," says the bureau's report.

What happened in '61: company sales increased in 48 per cent of the firms polled; dropped in 29 per cent; earnings went down in 39 per cent, up in 38; production was up in 47 per cent, down in 27; prices were unchanged in 56 per cent of the businesses; employment was also unchanged in 56 per cent; wages were up in 66 per cent.

SALES TO INCREASE

What they say will happen in '62: sales up in 56 per cent of those polled, no change in 38 per cent, down in 6 per cent; earnings unchanged in 49 per cent, up in 43 per cent; production up in 52 per cent, unchanged in 43 per cent; prices unchanged in 73 per cent, up in 20 per cent; employment unchanged in 70 per cent.

"Certain basic problems still persist," said Mr. Bonner.

Employment is one.

"Present resource and manufacturing developments are not at a rate sufficient to fully employ the growing labor force," he said.

In 1961 only 17 per cent of the 250 firms showed greater employment; while 27 per cent reduced staff. A similar situation is predicted next year, with an increase in only 15 per cent and a decrease in 15 per cent; the rest expect no change.

City Needs Grant For BCE Tax Loss

Mayor Percy Scurrah Thursday said he was "confident" the provincial government would ensure grants in lieu of taxes will be paid to the city on B.C. Electric property here.

He made the comment after City Hall was notified by the provincial government assessor that all BCE facilities will have to be removed from the tax rolls in 1962.

They were worth about $150,000 in tax revenue to the city.

of 250 key B.C. businesses province.

increase in 15 per cent; the rest expect no change.

However, at the same time, 52 per cent expect increased production and 56 per cent increased sales.

"This situation graphically portrays the problems of a progressive economy where successful efforts to increase the productivity of labor create problems of absorbing an expanding labor force," says the bureau's report.

MAJOR INDUSTRIES

A brief look at major B.C. industries follows.

Forestry: sales and production will increase in 1962, with substantial gains in the pulp and paper industry; despite market problems and weak prices 1961 should top 1960.

Iron and steel: fared worse than hoped in '61 with sales and production declines in two-thirds of the industry; next year a 10 per cent boost is expected.

Food and drink: a 5 to 8 per cent sales and production boost in 1961; a 5 to 10 per cent increase expected in '62.

Construction: outlook is for "substantial" activity but "no sharp upturn;" pulp and paper and hydro developments may improve the picture.

Retail and wholesale: not much gain in 1961; but a 5 to 10 per cent boost expected in sales next year; a "marked improvement" expected.

The report says that while the air of caution at this time last year has been largely dissipated, many of the executives are making optimistic predictions on the assumption of a general economic improvement rather than specific conditions in their own business.

"As near as we can interpret the letter, the property will still be on the tax roll for education purposes," said Mayor Scurrah.

He said removal of the facilities from the general tax roll would be a serious loss unless a grant in lieu of taxes was made.

"I feel confident the government will recognize the fairness of making the grant," he said.

NEW CHINATOWN would look like this from Government Street when given face-lifting as recommended in today's urban renewal report. Pedestrian plaza—100 yards long—would attract tourists to the colorful restaurant area and give the elderly Chinese bachelors who live there a pleasant place to sit and mingle—as they do now in dingy doorways—without danger from automobile traffic. Interiors of the three-storey buildings shown at left and right would be completely renovated to provide cheap, more cheerful and adequate rooms for the declining population of some 750 single Chinese.

RENEWAL SCHEDULE DRAWN UP

An orderly schedule of operation was outlined today by the Capital Region Planning Board for the initial five-year urban renewal program.

Once adoption of the plan is made by the three levels of government and preliminary administrative arrangements made, here's how progress would unfold for Victorians:

1963—Commence North Blanshard redevelopment, phase one. First spot redevelopment pilot scheme. Rehabilitate first residential building in Chinatown. Change remaining parts of Mary Street to park.

1965—Commence Blanshard redevelopment, phase two. Commence Spring Ridge redevelopment.

1966—Three spot redevelopment schemes.

1967—Review program, especially proposals for tentative redevelopment areas.

City's Third Face Called by Planners 'Threat, Challenge'

A hard-punching urban renewal report for Victoria released at City Hall today aims at shaking Victorians out of current complacency that slums can't happen in the oft-quoted "garden city" of Canada.

They have arrived and will continue to spread, a foreword in the report warns, unless the challenge is taken up—fittingly in centennial year.

The report also points out that a year's house-by-house survey shows that 970 low-rent housing units for families and elderly persons are desperately needed in the city.

All told, about one-third of this need will be met if the initial five-year redevelopment program is carried out.

Two areas, traditionally considered the worst in the city, did not get prominence in the report for different reasons.

The dilapidated warehousing area between Government and Wharf Streets was omitted from the redevelopment recommendations because the federal urban renewal program does not cover derelict commercial property. However, there were recommendations for some rehabilitative measures.

The James Bay area—a detailed survey showed—is relatively a fair housing area, with one bad section which the report said could be redeveloped in the future.

Other, less-publicized areas are far worse and a foreword to the report warns that they won't get better by being ignored. Here's how the report put the warning:

"Victoria has three faces. The first is a face of mellowed charm and a dignity acquired over 100 years. The second face is that of youthful activity symbolized by the confident new buildings of the last decade. But there is a third face which is not always recognized. It is a face of tired age, weary with the deterioration and neglect which mar the appearance and efficiency of buildings and their surroundings.

"This third face is called blight and it is slowly corroding the fair faces of the city and creating both a threat and a challenge."

The report points out that centennial year will not only mark the end of the city's first century but also the beginning of another and expresses the hope that overcoming blight will be recognized as one of the challenges of the new period.

ZONING REVIEW

To protect blight from spreading deeper into residential areas, the report recommends a review of zoning regulations in various parts of the city including attention to these points:

In James Bay the light industrial zoning should be curtailed to a line west of St. Lawrence Street; the block Caledonia, Cook, Pandora and Quadra has a mixture of residential, commercial and industrial uses; Quadra commercial area at Pandora should not extend past Central Park;

General commercial uses associated with the downtown fringe should not extend east of Cook; if Blanshard is extended and the redevelopment proposal proceeds, zoning will require amendments; competition between land uses in the triangle formed by Douglas, Gorge Road and the railway; industrial zoning in residential Victoria West between William and Esquimalt Roads.

WIPE THEM OUT

The report also said high-rise apartment zoning requires review and commercial parking zones should be wiped out of residential areas.

A relatively cheap method of providing low-rent public housing is available under the National Housing Act. The federal government pays 50 per cent and the provincial and city governments split the balance of costs for acquiring, clearing and assembling land.

This is sold to Central Mortgage and Housing for construction of low-rent housing with the federal government paying 75 per cent of costs and the province 25 per cent. If the housing projects require subsidy to keep the rents low—usually the case—this cost is split 75 per cent to the federal government and 12 1/2 per cent to each of the provincial and city governments.

The ships will leave Jan. 5, and will not return until mid-April.

It will be the longest training cruise, both in miles steamed and time away from port, ever undertaken by Pacific command ships.

In the Indian Ocean area, the three destroyers will carry out exercises with units of other Commonwealth navies, including Australia, New Zealand, India, Pakistan, Ceylon and Britain.

Ports of call will not be announced until diplomatic clearances have been received, possibly not until after the ships sail. But the general route will be via Hawaii, one or two other Pacific islands, and Malaysia.

While in the Pacific, the ships will work with U.S. surface and air units in anti-submarine warfare exercises.

Capt. Victor Browne, commander of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron and captain of Assiniboine, will be in command. Commanding officers of the other ships are Cmdr. I. A. MacPherson, Ottawa, and Cmdr. J. H. MacLean, Margaree.

Fishboat Search Halted

RCAF Search and Rescue officials said today the search for the 54-foot herring dragger Cape Norman, believed sunk Wednesday night near the mouth of Nanoose Bay, north of Nanaimo, was called off at noon.

Four men are believed to have died in the tragedy: Captain Tom Wilson, White Rock; Dave Faulkner, engineer, home town not known; Bob Sherburn, Union Bay; and Boyd Fuerst, North Vancouver.

"Weather was good today, and both aircraft and surface vessels made extended searches," an RCAF spokesman said. "There is little more that can be done."

AIR AND SEA

An RCAF Albatross and RCAF Otter took shifts on the air search today, while the fisheries patrol vessel Kitimat and privately owned Unimak hunted the surface.

From Maude Island, at the mouth of Nanoose Bay, 15 miles north of Nanaimo, aircraft searched in the vast triangle bounded by a line to Merry Island, 15 miles to the northeast; another 30-mile line from Merry Island through Lasqueti Island to Hornby Island; and the Vancouver Island coast southward 30 miles to Nanoose Bay.

Surface craft cruised northward as far as Parksville, and eastward across Georgia Strait to Lasqueti Island.

COVER FOUND

A hatch cover has been found, but not positively identified as having come from the missing 54-foot dragger.

Otherwise the vessel has sunk without a trace.

First alarm was given Wednesday evening when a vessel in Georgia Strait heard a radio signal.

"Mayday—in distress and sinking one-quarter mile from Maude Island."

Last words heard were those of Capt. Wilson, who said "the dinghy with three men aboard has capsized."

Investor's Charges Labelled 'Idiotic'

Attorney General Robert Bonner today defended the B.C. government's B.C. Electric takeover against what he termed "idiotic" charges by a leading British investment executive.

Mr. Bonner was replying to Sir Edwin Herbert who said in Montreal Thursday that confidence in B.C. had been "shattered by the unfair and improper action" of the power takeover.

"His opinion that B.C. has lost its attraction to foreign investors is not borne out by the enquiries which this government is constantly receiving through its offices in Victoria, San Francisco and London," said Mr. Bonner.

"We are reputed to be leading Canada in primary industry investment this year."

Mr. Bonner said that the trade department's estimate of $1,260,000,000 worth of capital investment in B.C. for 1961 appears to be holding up "pretty close."

He said he was expecting 1962 investment to be slightly larger again.

Mr. Bonner pointed out that Sir Edwin "is a self-confessed representative of shareholders in B.C. Power Corp."

This is B.C. Electric's parent company which is attempting through the courts to win higher compensation for the takeover.

Mr. Bonner said the company, through a Toronto public relations firm, had already launched a strong protest campaign. He said the PR firm "may in fact be responsible" for newspaper reports of Sir Edwin's remarks.

Mr. Bonner said that Sir Edwin's charge that worldwide banking protests had been "smothered" by Premier Bennett "is idiotic on its face."

"In 10 years of public life I have never seen any protest smothered by anyone else," said the attorney general.

Mr. Bonner backed up his reply by quoting Neil Alexander as saying B.C. is a "very safe place for industry to invest."

Q. Would you please tell me where I could obtain information regarding the value of mining shares? Mrs. M.A.S.

A. One of the local brokerage firms should be able to trace the shares for you.

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1961—PAGE 17

MONTE ROBERTS

A goodly number of the loyal constituents have been coming around asking about the photograph published on the front page of this newspaper a couple of days ago: the one depicting a sneaky looking character depositing a bundle of garbage in a Victoria city trash can.

The photo, as you may remember, was designed to illustrate a news story telling of city council's worries over non-residents using Victoria's very own litter bins.

And what the loyal constituents have been coming around to ask is, was that the dear old dad in the photo?

The dear old dad would refuse to answer, on the grounds it might tend to incriminate him, were it not for the fact his granddaughter had already blown the whistle, by saying "What is grandpa doing that for?"

So I may as well confess, when the boss decided he wanted this particular tableau staged, he put the finger on me.

Little did he realize how thoroughly I could put myself into the role of a garbage-legger.

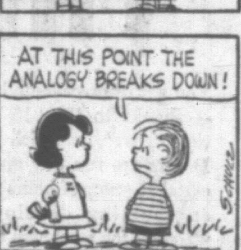

You've heard of "the method" in acting circles? This was the technique I used. And it was no trouble at all.

I simply pretended the time was last summer, when I lived in an outlying district where garbage collections was, to say the least, infrequent and informal.

During that period, I became an authority on the location of trash cans, especially those least likely to be under surveillance.

And if any constituent thinks I was posing for the front page picture, let him be assured I was simply re-enacting a daily routine.

(I wouldn't have had the courage to make this confession of a garbage-legger, were it not that I have now fled across the border into Oak Bay, which does not have an extradition treaty with Victoria.)

Mail Handler Admits Theft

Postal Investigators Watched As Man Hid Parcel in His Shirt

A mail handler in the Victoria Post Office today pleaded guilty in city police court to charges of stealing a post parcel and tampering with the mail.

Vagn Bjerre, 1170 Fort Street, wished a "speedy trial" and said he was sorry it had happened.

Bjerre was caught by Post Office investigators called from Vancouver after missing parcel complaints from Victoria residents had been received.

Post office investigator James Armstrong, Vancouver, said he and his partner watched a few employees who were suspect to the charges.

IN SHIRT

"We observed the accused take a parcel and put it in his shirt," the investigator said, "he then went down to his locker and put it in there."

Bjerre was seen removing a packet of foreign stamps from a parcel by the other investigator, who did not appear in court.

Magistrate William Ostler delayed sentencing until a probation report could be reviewed.

Other veteran Victoria engineers who received life memberships at today's luncheon were:

E. S. Jones, 1626 Rockland Avenue; A. G. Phillips, 2685 Queenswood Drive, and William Waters, Royal Newport Apartments, Newport Avenue.

Horse Bounds Into Car; $300 Damage

A Thursday night accident between a car and a horse on the Pat Bay Highway resulted in $300 damage, all to the car.

Sidney RCMP detachment said the horse had strayed from pasture near McDonald Park Road.

Driver of the car, D. M. Clark, 3338 Wordsworth, said he saw the horse take a huge bound, and then there was a crash.

The windshield of Mr. Clark's auto was smashed and the hood crumpled.

Jeffie, the horse, was bruised but able to walk away. Neither Mr. Clark nor his mother-in-law, a passenger in the car, were injured.

25-Year Men Feted Tonight

One of Canada's most exclusive organizations, the James Island 25-Year Club, will hold its eighth annual dinner tonight at 6.30 at Holyrood House.

There is only one qualification for membership—at least 25 years of service at the James Island plant of Canadian Industries Ltd. Of the 46 people expected tonight, 22 are actively employed and 24 are retired.

The club boasts 1,510 years of service to the company, for an average of 33 years per member.

Because of a good service record and no previous criminal convictions a young sailor was let off with a fine for car theft in city court today.

Jerry Smith, HMCS New Glasgow, was told by Magistrate William Ostler to sell his car and pay the $200 fine from the sale.

"Cars seem to get you into trouble," the magistrate told the defendant, who had driven a stolen car up Island Dec. 2.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Time Has Come to Buy... Those Christmas Goodies

By PENNY SAVER

Dear Sis: I'm not going to make another batch of Christmas cake before the holidays. I keep promising myself that I'll get busy, but something always seems to stand in my way. The family, however, will never know. I've found a shop that sells the most delightful cake I've ever tasted. Dark, rich, moist and delicious!

I'll just slip into the house one night with a few of these and no one will ever guess. Cakes can be purchased in gay Christmas wrappings or plain in rectangles, squares, or round, for only 80 cents a pound. Really, you must try them!

Same shop makes almond paste in half pound and pound packages and will put the paste on your own cake for no extra charge. The paste is also 80 cents a pound.

At the rate the family has been dipping into the cookie jar and cleaning out the shortbread, have an awful feeling my supply isn't going to hold out. So, I intend to add to my pantry the extremely good shortbread I've found in this shop. Made with real butter and in rectangular shape, it's 55 cents a dozen.

Baked good mince tarts yet? Well, Sis, you don't have to. I've seen mince tarts that far out-rank my productions in taste and appearance. In individual foil plates these tarts are 65 cents a dozen. You won't want to miss them.

Getting in a panic because you're beat when you get through a day of shopping? Don't feel like preparing a fancy meal, but know you had better or your family will take up arms? Believe me, I know the feeling!

Surprise them and please them with fresh-made beef pies with gravy. I'm sure they won't complain after one mouthful. The pies are 16 cents each and perfect for a quick meal.

Wondering where I found all these Christmas goodies, Sis? Call me and I'll tell you.

THE BETTER HALF

"I'm glad you finally showed up — so many pretty girls have walked past that my winking muscles are exhausted."

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This Sweater Girl Troubled—Antiperspirant, Shields Called For

Q. "I have three sweaters which I wore last year. One is yellow, one aqua and one brown. They are all in good condition except that the aqua and yellow ones have brown perspiration stains under the arms and the brown one has white perspiration stains. Is there any way I can get these stains out, and how can I prevent such stains?"

A. I do not know of any way to get rid of the stains, but I can give you some help in preventing future stains. Perhaps you did not use an antiperspirant often enough. Also, you can use lightweight shields in a sweater or, if you prefer, one of the harness-like models which are not attached to your clothes but provide you with shields. These are valuable, too, when you wear a dress with the sleeves cut in such a way that it is impossible to put shields in the dress.

Q. "I am 17 years old, 5 feet, 5 inches tall and weigh 123 pounds. My measurements are: bust 39 inches, waist 24 and hips 36. How do I reduce my bustline?"

A. Your weight is correct. I think that you are making a problem out of what many women would consider a blessing. Your bust measurement is a little larger than usual for your other measurements, it is true. Be glad that it is this way and not in reverse—bust 36 and hips 39 inches.

Q. "I am 15 years old and have a medium frame. I am 5 feet, 3 inches tall. Please tell me how I can get the figure I want—bust 36 inches, waist 20 and hips 25. What should my correct weight be?"

A. You should weigh about 115 pounds. What are you trying to do—a disappearing waist act? Few builds, if any, would allow such measurements as the ones you suggest. Be satisfied with a waist which measures 24 to 25 inches.

Q. "Why is there so much difference in weight and height charts?"

A. Some charts are only average weight charts for the age indicated. The ideal weight for life is that which was ideal for you at the age of 25. Also, some weight charts do not take bony structure into consideration. This can make a big difference. Then, too, some of the latest charts place the ideal weight at a lower figure.

TODAY'S RECIPE

PINEAPPLE BLINTZES

Batter—Two large eggs, 1/2 cup sifted, all-purpose flour, 1/2 cup whole milk, 1/2 tsp. salt, 2 tbsps. melted butter.

Beat eggs half a minute. Add all other ingredients. Beat until smooth. Cover and let stand for 15 minutes. Choose a 6-inch heavy frying pan. Pour in melted butter. Pour in about 2 tbsps. batter and tilt the pan to distribute the batter. Fry over moderate heat on one side only about one minute until golden brown. Lift onto a cookie sheet covered with aluminum foil. Cook and remove each pancake similarly.

Filling—Two 20-oz. tins of fancy crushed pineapple, drained; 1/4 cup butter, 1/4 cup granulated sugar, 1/2 tsp. of grated nutmeg.

In a separate frying pan, melt the butter. Add the crushed pineapple. Sprinkle with sugar and nutmeg and heat for about five minutes.

Place a heaping tablespoonful of filling in the centre of each blintz on the brown side. Fold over. Fry gently in butter on both sides, watching carefully to make sure the blintzes do not burn. Serve with sour cream. Makes 12 to 16 blintzes.

Quick Meal

French toast becomes a filling luncheon dish when it's made the following way. In a shallow dish, combine three slightly beaten eggs, one cup of milk, one-quarter teaspoon salt and one-quarter teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Melt one-third cup of butter in a skillet. Taking two or three at a time, dip 12 slices of bread into the egg mixture, then brown them on one side in the hot butter. Turn. Sprinkle the browned side of each slice with two tablespoons of grated cheddar cheese. Remove the slices from the skillet and serve them when the cheese is melted and the under-sides brown.

DEAR ABBY...

Fly Straight, Honey!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am not a silly kid. I am 22 and work in an insurance office. I've been dating an air force officer for three months and I fell for him right off the bat. He says he loves me and wants to marry me "some day" but I shouldn't talk marriage to him because tomorrow he may die. In the meantime he sees nothing wrong with two adults living for today. My father told me not to take the guy seriously because he used the same line when he worked in the service and it worked every time. Should I believe my father or this fellow?

UP A CREEK. DEAR UP: Believe your father. Old air force Romeos never die—they just lose their heads in the clouds.

DEAR ABBY: My 24-year-old fiancée and I (21) have been engaged for five months. We planned a Christmas wedding in 1961.

My sister, who is 23, became engaged shortly afterward and she wanted a Christmas wedding in 1961. Because my father can't afford two weddings the same month, and she is older, I agreed to postpone my wedding until May of 1962. Now my sister has become "disengaged" to the first man and plans to marry someone else in April of 1962. That means that I can't be married in May. Do you think this is fair?

WITS' END. DEAR WITS: Be careful—your fiancée may remind you that he's more interested in a marriage certificate than a calendar! Marry him now and let sister work out her own timetable.

DEAR ABBY: My wife has an overindulgent mother who insists on writing to us almost every day. In every letter she encloses newspaper clippings, magazine articles, church programs, recipes and other unsolicited reading matter of little or no interest to us. The problem is she never puts more than one 7-cent airmail stamp on the envelope. It is both expensive and irritating to pay the postage due when her letters come. If we refuse to pay for it on this end, it will be returned to her and she'll know we refused it. How can we either discourage such frequent letters or get her to use more stamps?

HARRY. DEAR HARRY: Buy the lady a home postage scale for Christmas. (That's one weigh!)

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would have told that reader who thought the muu muu was out of place at breakfast that she is mistaken.

The muu muu is a dress and may be worn with confidence anywhere. Only the mainland designers have made nightgowns and housecoats out of them. I would rather see women dressed in muu muu than in some of those shorts and halters, or skin-tight pants I have seen lately.

AN ISLANDER. Everybody's got a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of this paper.

New Career Began With Baby-Sitting

By PAT DUFOUR

Baby-sitting started Mrs. Geoffrey Clark on the way to being one of the most zealous workers for the Unitarian Services Committee of Canada. Sound fantastic? Not really when she explains it this way:

"I was in Ottawa in 1957 and used to baby-sit for Mrs. M. Pearce, who was assistant to Dr. Lotta Hirschmanova, the USC's dynamic leader. When I told Mrs. Pearce that I wanted to learn how to type she suggested I practice at the USC offices on Sparks Street.

"I met the doctor, couldn't resist her contagious enthusiasm, and immediately started in to work as a volunteer. This happened when Mrs. Clark's husband, Lieut. Clark, RCN, was at naval headquarters, and it wasn't long before the new recruit had "roped in" some of the other navy wives as volunteers.

LONG SERVICE

In 1959 the Clarks and their two boys, David and John, moved to Halifax where Lieut. Clark joined the crew of HMCS Cape Scott. There Mrs. Clark's work continued without interruption.

"The Universalist Church in Halifax had written Ottawa about this time and offered one room in their church for the committee's work. Naturally, when Dr. Lotta heard I was headed that way I received my "orders" to do what I could there.

"That was in August. In September Dr. Lotta visited Halifax and held a public meeting. I helped organize a group of volunteers from that meeting and we soon became the export centre for the Atlantic Coast."

Essentially a modest woman, it took a little prodding to discover that Mrs. Clark and her volunteers packed 30,000 pounds of clothing for Korea and Greece. Donations were received from points extending to Charlottetown, Newfoundland, Monckton and Truro, N.S.

Starting with a core of 10 women, the Halifax committee grew to 60 before the Clarks left for Victoria last December.

HELP FOR INDIA
Just like the old cliché, "history repeats itself" it was only natural that when Dr. Hirschmanova arrived in Victoria recently to get the 1961 Times Children of India Fund under way that she call on the services of her former "comrade in arms."

There was no hesitation. Mrs. Clark readily agreed to act as secretary and is happily immersed in counting the donations that have already climbed over the $3,000 mark.

Not that she restricts her activities to counting dollars and dimes! Teaming up with Mrs. Eric Dowell, Mrs. E. Woodward, Mrs. C. Yarwood and Mrs. C. Buhr, she spends many hours packing clothing donations for Korea. They're assisted by members of the Brentwood Women's Institute. First shipment of close to 1,000 pounds left on Monday.

This summer both Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Dowell were awarded the USC pin for outstanding service.

Is there any other way Victoria women will be able to help the cause which keeps Mrs. Clark so busy?

If your hobby is knitting and you are good at it, this interesting woman has a suggestion for you.

"We have 50 pounds of wool on the way here and we'd certainly like some knitting volunteers," she says. "Wool is the beginning of a program that will see thousands of cardigans being made and sent to Korea. We'll need a fantastic amount of help."

Mrs. Clark refuses to be docketed as an outstanding worker. "I'm just doing what I can to help out. And, once you've met Dr. Lotta as I have, you remain 'sold' on this work for life."

Those who have met the dedicated campaigner would certainly agree on that point.

Henson-Warren Marriage Vows

Betty Norine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Warren, 1698 Lansdowne Road, and Norman James Henson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Henson, 973 Runnymede Place, exchanged marriage vows recently in Metropolitan United Church. Rev. E. Laura Butler and Dr. F. E. H. James officiated.

Church was decorated with bouquets of giant white and yellow chrysanthemums, cedar boughs and ferns. Mrs. E. W. Hanning sang "Till We Meet Again," accompanied by Eric Boothroyd at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace, styled with four tiers of flounces. Pearl and sequin embroidered bodice had scalloped neckline and lilypoint sleeves. A seed pearl coronet held the silk illusion net veil and she carried a bouquet of pink Rapture roses and feathered white chrysanthemums. Her maternal grandmother's ruby engagement ring was her jewelry.

Maid of honor, Miss Joan Hopper wore a pastel pink nylon chiffon over taffeta gown. Bridesmaids, Miss Colleen Reid and Miss Rema Stofor were in turquoise gowns in same style, and junior bridesmaid, Miss Irene Henson, sister of the groom, in a sunshine-yellow gown. All attendants wore gold pendants, gifts of the bride.

Best man was Kenneth Henson, brother of groom, and ushering guests to their pews were Henry (Bud) Dovey, Fred Severson and Raymond Warren, brother of the bride. Large baskets of giant white chrysanthemums and cedar boughs decorated St. William Wallace room in Holyrood House for the reception. The head table was centred with a three-tiered cake, white candles and vases of pink Rapture roses. Mrs. Hanning sang "Because" and Reginald Stone played the organ. Dr. F. E. H. James said grace and Howard English proposed the toast. The bride donned a royal blue Blin and Blin suit and beige accessories with a corsage of white carnations and heather for travelling on a honeymoon trip to State of Washington.

Following their return, the couple will leave in January for a visit to Australia.

Hospital Auxiliary Makes $1,100

A steady stream of customers from the time the affair opened at 11 a.m., through the noon hour when turkey burgers were served and until the end of the tea hour, brought success to the Ladies' Auxiliary of Gorge Road Hospital at a Christmas bazaar, Wednesday in the hospital basement.

A sum of $1,100 was realized. The bazaar was officially opened by Mrs. R. C. Walker, wife of the hospital administrator. Conveyer was Mrs. Ash, assisted by Mrs. Rain, Mrs. H. Jackson and Mrs. C. Coleman. Mrs. E. R. Owen received guests.

Stall conveners and assistants were: White elephant, Mrs. P. Jackson and Mrs. A. Swan; sewing and occupational therapy articles, Mrs. J. C. Gourlie and Mrs. V. Mawer; toys, Mrs. W. Bradbeer and Mrs. A. Mawer.

Naval and Garrison Church

Pink and white chrysanthemums decorated St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church when Helen Joyce Bates exchanged vows with Wayne Norman Arnold. Rev. J. A. Roberts officiated.

Parents of the principals are Capt. A. A. Bates and Mrs. Bates, 1121 Greenwood Avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Arnold of Ottawa. Mrs. Arnold attended the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore white nylon sheer over taffeta in ballerina length. "Something borrowed" was a brooch, belonging to the bride's great-grandmother. A coronet of sequins held the lace veil. Bouquet was of pink and white carnations.

Make Own Fruit Tree

The frosted fresh fruit Christmas tree is an unusual item that is simple to prepare, says Don Cutler, a CPR hotel chef de cuisine. It can be prepared the day ahead and will add greatly to a buffet table. All that is required are some beaten egg whites (not too dry), coarse granulated sugar, few small meat skewers, toothpicks and a pastry brush.

Fruits that may be used are apples, pears, green or red grapes, dates, red or green glazed cherries and tangerine segments or candied fruits of your choice. Fresh fruits should be washed in advance so that they will be dry.

Build the tree, starting with the larger fruit as the base and the smaller fruit to the top. A suggested solid base is seven large apples held together with meat skewers. Simply brush the fruit with the pastry brush dipped in the beaten egg whites and then dip or roll in the granulated sugar. With the smaller fruit (grapes, cherries), simply brush lightly with the egg whites and sprinkle the required amount of sugar over them. The grapes in small bunches may be pinned to a pear in the centre of the tree, with toothpicks. As you build, taper off your tree to the top to give the impression of a Christmas tree. Red and green glazed cherries can then be pinned to the tree with toothpicks to resemble decorations on the tree. A little imagination and experimenting will certainly give you a surprise in the effect that can be obtained with a few every-day fruits. Do not refrigerate the tree after it is completed. The egg whites will dry at room temperature, giving the snowy effect desired.

A tray of light Christmas cake may be placed with the fruit tree on your buffet table to complete the dessert. If you want to preserve your tree for awhile, place a small compote of fruit on the table as well. However, you will find that your guests will enjoy helping themselves to fruits plucked from the frosted Christmas tree.

In this case, however, the odds were 100 to 1 in my favor, but both sides were vulnerable. If I had not done this, I had a part score of 60. If I had, I had 100 to 125 points and I was 100 percent sure I could see an absolutely sure partner held an ace." I asked how North could open with a grand slam if he did not have an ace; the answer was that he did.

Pacifist Leaders Held After U.K. Police Raid

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard today raided the headquarters of an anti-nuclear organization that plans a runway sitdown Saturday to immobilize three U.S. air bases in England.

Four officials of Earl Russell's Committee of 100 were reported to have been arrested on charges of "incitement and conspiracy" under the Official Secrets Act.

Michael Randle, secretary of the committee, interrupted a press conference to report the four arrests. He said warrants also were out for himself and his deputy, Peter Pottle.

The committee has called for 50,000 volunteers to back its protest against nuclear weapons at the air bases and at mass rallies in Bristol, Cardiff, Manchester and York.

Thousands of police and troops have been ordered out to repel any attempts by the demonstrators to invade the bases and sit down around patrol planes so they cannot take off.

QUEBEC GROUP COMPLAINS

French Text Books Asked

By JOHN YORSTON

QUEBEC (CP) — Poor taste and crudeness of Canadian-written French-language elementary school texts was asked from two quarters Thursday before the Quebec royal commission on education.

A private teacher's group and an association of women university graduates lit into the French-language texts for their crude treatment of Canadian history, religion, death and grammar.

Le Cercle Msgr. Rouleau, a private study group of teachers, said elements of Canadian history could be taught better than by "using manuals based on the most brutal and vulgar imagery and which go as far as arbitrary imposition of omissions of historic facts."

They said the French texts were full of poor phrasing, clichés and anglicisms.

They demanded that books be imported from France, as is done in Belgium and Switzerland.

The women's association said schools must change their methods of teaching religion in Quebec schools.

Power Exports Bids Delayed by Columbia

OTTAWA (CP) — Time is running out for the government in its consideration of seven applications to export electricity.

No reason is given for the delay. It may have something to do with the Columbia River development dispute with British Columbia.

The applications are from utilities which have been exporting small amounts of power to the United States on year-to-year permits. Under the National Energy Board Act of 1959, applicants now may apply for permits covering up to 25 years.

One extension already has been given the exporters but this expires Dec. 31. The last extension was given by Parliament but the new session won't convene for some days after the Dec. 31 deadline.

Meanwhile, attention is being given here to the care taken by Justice Minister Fulton in a television program Tuesday to draw a distinction between approving power exports and the question of selling "downstream benefit" Columbia power to the United States as advocated by Premier Bennett of B.C.

Mr. Fulton said the federal government opposes sale of the Canadian share of Columbia power, generated in the U.S. from Canadian storage, because that amounts to tearing up the treaty signed with the U.S.

On the other hand, he carefully noted that export of power is possible under the National Energy Board Act for periods up to 25 years and said that exports and downstream benefits are not the same thing.

Short Session Indicated

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Prime Minister John Diefenbaker has stirred speculation that the next session of parliament will be a short one to be followed by an election early in 1962.

The prime minister has left little doubt among reporters who have accompanied him on his recent pre-election trips that he is now on the election campaign trail and that a general election is not far off.

He himself described his trip this week to Prince Edward Island as the "pedestrian beginning" of the election campaign.

This has aroused speculation among members of Parliament who are in Ottawa—and there are several here in between the sessions—that the next session will be short. This is the consensus among not only opposition but also government MPs.

A general election in April may be in the offing or even as early as in March.

Jobless Pay Plan Urged

Government, industry and labor could double their contributions to the federal unemployment insurance fund to prevent its depletion in April as the government anticipates, a labor unionist said this week.

Robert Noble, chairman of Victoria Labor Council employment committee, said the first two could give another 40 per cent each, and those who are working could contribute another 20 per cent to rebuild the fund.

"The government wants to scare us into accepting less benefit," Mr. Noble said.

Accused in Theft, Policeman Fired

MEDICINE HAT (CP) — Dismissal of James Gehring from the city police force was announced Thursday by police chief A. R. Bull.

Gehring, 28, and Bill Plotky, 26, also a former city police officer, face charges of theft in connection with a $33,000 robbery at the city police station Oct. 31, 1960.

SOLUTION MONDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT
By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Liz Taylor and Eddie Fisher—those home-less waifs, those rich Gypsies—revealed in Rome that they'll probably join the celebrities' parade to Switzerland and settle there. (They do plan a small lean-to in Jamaica.) Eddie dignifiedly, masterfully pilots Liz through Rome mobs these days. He protects her from pinchers and other nice people. They're obviously happy (not the pinchers—Eddie and Liz). The other day Liz wanted a new "Cleopatra" (snake-shaped) brace let worth thousands. "No," said Eddie, "you've got to be thrifty!" (An interesting idea.) The Via Veneto wizards figure he was stalling to buy it for her for Christmas or, better yet—Hallelujah!—to persuade the "Cleopatra" company to present her the bauble.

I phoned the Latin Quarter and asked when nude dancer Julia Gibson would be on stage.

"She works different times," replied telephonist Helen McDermott, "but you can see the best part of Miss Gibson at 9.50."

I went at 9.50—and she wasn't kidding.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Steve Allen cancelled his Feb. Copacabana appearance (reportedly because of TV commitments); Johnny Mathis'll replace him...

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other, instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 26-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammett Atlas.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Herbert Kaul, age 9, of Portland, Ore., for his question:

How do clams multiply?

The 'stodgy clam' is a stay-at-home who spends his life buried or half buried in the sand or the mud. He is shut off from the rest of the world with his soft body encased in a side two hard shells. He does not have to work to make a living, for his food and oxygen are brought right to him by the water. He does not have to see or hear or smell what is going on around him. He does not need much sense to stay alive. We would not expect Mama clam to know much about child care or to help her children get started in their watery world.

Some clams make their homes along the banks of muddy rivers, by lake shores and muddy streams. They are the freshwater clams. Other clams live along the shallow shores of the tide-tossed ocean. They are the salt-water clams. Where you find one clam, there are usually more of them close by. In some clam beds the little fellows are crowded side by side. There is no more room and each batch of babies must travel to find homes for themselves.

There are male and female clams, mamas and papas. A baby clam is formed from two different cells, one from each parent. A new generation of salt-water clams begins when papa sheds a cloud of tiny sperm cells into the water. The mama clam sheds a cloud of egg cells. A sperm and egg cell must meet and fertilize before a new clam can begin to form. In the first few hours, thousands of them pair off in the water and become tiny larvae. It takes about 300 of these midgits to measure one inch and most of them are quickly gobbled up by hungry fishes.

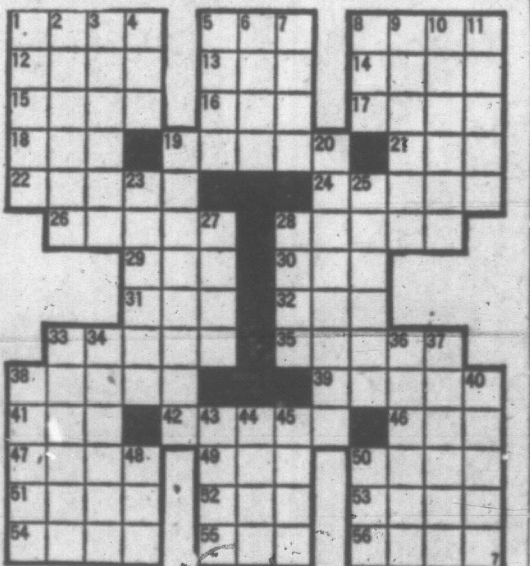

Those that escape sink to the floor, but they must soon start travelling for they must find a fish and fix themselves to his gills. There they live for a while, looking like tiny white beads.

Settle on Sea Floor

At last they drop down and settle themselves on the floor of the sea. Each one spins a fine thread called a byssus to tie himself down and, when he gets to be about as big as a pea, he starts to bury himself in sandy mud.

Some freshwater clams take a little more care of their children. Papa sheds his cloud of sperm cells, but Mama keeps the egg cells safe in her body. Some of the sperm cells are carried by the water into her gills. They meet and fertilize the egg cells and stay under Mama's protection where they grow and develop. When the brood is ready, Mama sends thousands of them out into the water. They drift around for a while and finally settle. But only a very few of them escape their enemies, find a suitable home and grow up to become mama and papa clams.

A pair of clams may shed thousands and perhaps millions of eggs, but only a few of them will succeed. The simple creatures have no family life to protect their children and help them get started. But the sea does not let all these baby clams go to waste. They become food to feed fish and crabs, lobsters and other hungry fellows and countless trillions of the unlucky baby clams are eaten every year.

CHILDREN GLUED TO TV AS HOME SEEMS DULL

VANCOUVER (CP) — A University of British Columbia communications expert says that if Mom and Dad are worried about the time Junior spends watching television they may only have themselves to blame.

Alan Booth told an interviewer today that home life may be so dull and boring that Junior is forced to turn to the "glass eye" for something to do.

He said that children who come from homes where there is no encouragement for a hobby, book or newspaper reading, usually turn to TV to find something interesting.

And, he added, he did not believe that TV viewing had the harmful effect on children that some people believed. There was no proof TV affected children's eyesight or made them get less sleep or be listless and disinterested in school work.

'THE BLUE GOOSE'

St. Luke's Offering Rolls Merrily Along

By PETER MATTHEWS
"The Blue Goose," by Peter Blackmore, Barbara Grant, Karl Rimmer, Klaus Frettinger, Elizabeth Portel, Margery Briggs, Louise Portel, Paddy Hayward, Mrs. Keppel-Piggott, Blossom Johnson, Henry Portel, Laurie Westendale, Richard Hardy, Bert Farr, Robert Briggs, Dave Shearer, Mr. Guppy, Buck Guernsey

If laughter is a tonic, all those who attended the opening performance Thursday night of this latest St. Luke's Players' production should be feeling in the pink this morning.

It's a lightweight piece but the excellent comic properties of the situation and dialogue make it a breeze for the generally competent cast, and consequently for its audiences.

Directed by Dorothea House with an eye to squeezing out the maximum in fun, the pace, a little hesitant to start with, picked up before the first act was over, and soon the whole romp was rolling merrily along.

Notable characterizations were turned in by Evanne Murray, Blossom Johnson, Bert Farr and Laurie Westendale, all of whom, but particularly Miss Murray, came wonderfully close to the high-keyed, broad style of farce comedy.

If you're feeling blue, "Blue Goose" is for you. And even if you're not, don't hesitate. It's on again tonight and tomorrow at St. Luke's Parish Hall, Cedar Hill Cross Road, curtain at 8:15.

AUTHOR AFTER LIBRARY FEES

LONDON (Reuters) — British author, Sir Alan Herbert says he will make every effort to keep public libraries and the British Museum from obtaining copies of his next book.

Sir Alan is campaigning to have authors paid when their works are borrowed from libraries.

Should he succeed in keeping the book out of the British Museum, it could result in a fine for his publishers; the law decrees that free copies of every book published in Britain must be sent to the museum.

VANCOUVER (CP) — A clash of temperaments put the 506th program of the Vancouver Women's Musical Club on its way Wednesday.

Lloids, 35, from Monterey, Calif., continuing a wide tour with one assistant and a box full of his famous puppets, ran verbally into club president Dr. Ida Halpern, his undoing.

Dr. Halpern and Lloids flung words in front of the audience like: "You've ruined my career. What should I apologize for? This means publicity but is it the kind you want?"

The audience mumbled: "We want to see the show... if that woman."

"I was damn close to tears," said Lloids. He explained his puppets — mute through the whole affair — would be wasted on the 20 or so children seated in the first two rows.

Lloids promised to pay for the tickets as everyone went home.

The puppet show will appear on a special Christmas program with the Victoria Symphony Orchestra on Sunday at 3 p.m. and Monday at 8:30 p.m. at the Royal Theatre. Feature of the performance will be the world premiere of a "Concerto for Puppets and Orchestra," written especially for the Lloids puppets by the American composer Roger Dennis.

Big Win Follows 1958 Near Miss

There will be one new face and two "old timers" on the 1962 Central Saanich council as a result of the municipal election Thursday.

Charles Mollard, who missed out by one vote three years ago in his first attempt at election to council, led the polls with 356 votes.

Also elected were Ray M. Lamont, a member of every council until his resignation a year ago to make an unsuccessful fight for the reeveship, who was second with 331 votes. Right behind him was Coun. P. F. Warren with 325 votes.

7 Negroes Held For Boycotting

CLARKSDALE, Miss. (AP)—Seven Negroes were arrested Thursday on charges of "withholding trade" from downtown merchants.

The arrests followed a boycott by Negroes against white merchants for what the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People called discriminatory practices.

WOMAN LOSES

Trailing were Mrs. Gladys Ronson, a former councillor, with 263 votes, and Kelly Troup, 243.

John Southern defeated David S. Prosser 351-201 for a seat on the Saanich District 63 School Board.

First choice of Sidney ratepayers for two seats on the village commission was Joseph G. Mitchell, well-known Sidney lumber dealer and waterworks district trustee, who garnered 238 votes in his first try for election. In second place was Commissioner Mrs. M. E. Roberts with 170 votes, and Thomas A. Aiers, a former commissioner, was third with 1117 votes.

The voters approved a referendum for extension of the village boundaries by a resounding 238-30 vote.

John F. Rowton was elected as trustee by ratepayers in the unorganized portion of Saanich School District 63 with 310 votes. Defeated candidate was Charles J. Mackie, 265.

RUSS BUDGET APPROVED

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet parliament today unanimously approved a record 1962 budget of more than 81,000,000,000 rubles with only one minor change. It gave Premier Khrushchev more money than he asked to run the country.

A total of 13,400,000,000 rubles was allocated for defence. At the official rate of exchange one ruble equals $1.11.

$5 Million 5-Year Plan Drafted To Wipe Out Blight Areas in City

NORTH BLANSHARD AREA BY 1966?

No U.S. 'Blueprint' For Congo

WASHINGTON (AP)—American State Secretary Dean Rusk said today the United States is not out to conquer the Congo's Katanga province but only wants to create a situation in which the Congolese themselves can work out their own government.

At a press conference, Rusk denied the United States has a blueprint for the Congo. He said the U.S. will continue to give strong help to the UN in its effort to stabilize the turbulent African country.

Turning to troubled southeast Asia, the state secretary accused the Communists of having stepped up a campaign of terror and violence aimed at taking over South-Viet Nam.

He expressed hope that other countries will join the U.S. in aiding the embattled South Vietnamese government.

HOPES FOR INQUIRY

He expressed hope that the three-nation international control commission would shortly begin looking into Communist violations of the 1954 Geneva peace agreement for Indochina—the agreement that created South Viet Nam and other political units in the area.

Rusk said there had been some indications that the Canadian Indian-Polish body would finally come to grips with charges of terror, assassination, torture, kidnapping, infiltration and open military attack which South Viet Nam has made against the Reds.

Facts and Figures

Here are some of the statistics involved in various recommendations of the urban renewal report:

- Areas needing complete redevelopment—six;
- Immediate priority—two;
- Buildings to be demolished—207;
- Acreage involved—38;
- New housing units—295;
- Total overall cost—about $5,000,000 gross;
- City share—about $350,000;
- Land assembly costs—about $1,545,000;
- Recovery from re-sale—about $483,000;
- Housing construction costs—about $2,920,000.

Special Report Before Council

By JOHN MIKA
Times City Hall Reporter

A $5,000,000 attack on spreading slums in Victoria, calling initially for razing and rebuilding of 38 acres of blighted housing, was proposed to city council today.

The five-year plan drawn up by Capital Region Planning Board culminates a year-long survey costing $25,000, jointly sponsored by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation and the city.

Best news for council in the report dealt with costs.

The estimates showed that the giant re-development program could be obtained for an outlay of about $350,000 of city money because the federal and provincial governments would pick up most of the tab under urban renewal provisions.

Return to the city, besides making it a better place to live, would include almost a doubling of tax revenue from the re-developed areas and about $100,000 worth of right-of-way for the proposed Blanshard Street extension for free.

Priority would be aimed at the north Blanshard and Spring Ridge areas where all buildings would be torn down, land re-assembled and new low-rent housing constructed for some 295 families.

Rehabilitation for Chinatown

Four other blighted areas would be re-developed after the first five-year program was completed.

Re-location of obsolete North Ward Elementary School on five acres and sale of 2½ acres for motel development also is involved in the priority development.

Secondary development under the plan would rehabilitate Chinatown and Victoria West without the radical surgery involved in demolition of buildings.

This would be accomplished in Chinatown by conversion of two existing three-story buildings into adequate housing for most of the area's 750 aging bachelors and conversion of Fisgard, below Government, into a 100-yard pedestrian plaza.

Hold-the-Line Action Proposed

Also called for is a coordinated effort by all city committees and departments to hold the line against spread of slums in borderline areas.

For the downtown area, marred by some derelict property, the report generally prescribed development of a series of pedestrian malls, off-street parking facilities and a general paint-up, clean-up campaign in order to attract shoppers and tourists.

Biggest single project proposed in the report is the North Blanshard redevelopment over 28 acres bounded by Hillside, a line between Wark and Quadra Streets, Kings Road, a line between Blanshard and Rose

Net cost of $752,942 would be split $376,470 to the federal government, and $186,235 paid by each of the provincial and city governments.

Then the low-rent housing, estimated at $1,570,000 would be built in the area split 75-25 per cent between the federal and provincial governments.

Any losses on rental would be split 75 per cent to the federal and 12½ per cent to each of the provincial and city governments.

Civic gains also would include $100,000 worth of right-of-way for the Blanshard extension going through the re-developed area—by rearranging existing road allowances.

In addition, the existing $463,550 taxable assessment of the area would be approximately doubled, giving the city more revenue every year after the development.

A similar plan would cover 10 acres of Spring Ridge area

bounded by Denman, Fernwood, portions of Gladstone and Spring Streets.

The existing 59 buildings would be demolished, land re-assembled and 117 units of low-rent row housing and 18 units for elderly citizens constructed.

Net cost of $309,000 for purchase, clearing, relocation of residents and services would include a city share of $77,250.

The new housing would cost $1,350,000, again shared 75-25 per cent by the federal and provincial governments.

The report recommends a review of the whole program at the end of five years when priorities could be allocated to four other sections requiring razing and re-development: the mill area between Turner and Bridge Streets; the area south of Memorial Arena; the Johnson-Cook-Yates area; and the St. James-Beckley area in James Bay.

Metro Pot Stirred By Murphy

By JOHN MIKA

Stanley Murphy's election victory statement as the new Saanich reeve has set the simmering metropolitan government pot boiling again.

The reeve-elect—following in the footsteps of former reeve Arthur Ash—said he will make an appointment with Victoria's new mayor early in the New Year to discuss the prospects of establishing a metro government with jurisdiction over Greater Victoria and the entire Saanich peninsula.

It is virtually certain that all other civic leaders will scorn the suggestion as they have in the past but Mr. Murphy will get a sympathetic hearing from Victoria's new mayor whoever he is.

Both mayoralty candidates J. Donald Smith and R. B. (Dick) Wilson have indicated favor for the idea of a study at least.

Mr. Smith has come out flatly in favor of metropolitan government, created by provincial decree if necessary.

Mr. Wilson has said some sort of greater community is inevitable and has promised he would call for establishment of Continued on Page 3

LIONS GROUP TALKS TO IVY

VANCOUVER (CP)—The name of Frank (Pop) Ivy, one of the most successful coaches in Canadian football history, today was mentioned as a possible coach of the British Columbia Lions if a private syndicate is successful in a bid to buy the club.

Bill Clancey, spokesman for the syndicate whom he said will be identified shortly, revealed that a number of telephone conversations were held with Ivy. The coach who brought Edmonton Eskimos to three Grey Cups, was said to be interested in coaching the Lions if the syndicate is successful in its purchase bid.

WIRE BRIEFS

No Stabbing Charge

VANCOUVER (CP)—Millionaire Patrick B. Ballentine, a former Toronto advertising executive, will not stand trial on a charge of attempting to murder a Vancouver doctor, deputy police chief Gordon Ambrose said today. Ambrose said an order has been obtained to commit Ballentine to a provincial mental hospital.

German Reds Defied

BERLIN (AP)—U.S. troop detachments moved along the Communist-controlled Berlin autobahn in both directions today without interference despite a new assertion by the East German regime that such movements are "illegal and provocative."

BALTAP Established

Scattered Fighting On Frontier of Goa

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Scattered border fighting today was reported around the frontier of Goa as India and Portugal appeared to be heading toward a showdown over the tiny Portuguese enclave.

The Press Trust of India news agency said Portuguese troops opened fire from Goa without provocation Thursday night on two Indian villages.

The agency also reported fighting between Portuguese

troops and Goan guerrillas inside the 1,300-square-mile territory on India's west coast.

The reports followed a Portuguese statement Thursday night accusing Indian fighter planes of strafing a Goan village and violating the air space of Damao and Dio, two other Portuguese territories.

So far there have been no reports of direct clashes between Portuguese and Indian forces massed along the Goan border, but India has served notice it will free to act if there are "provocations" by Portugal or internal repression in the enclaves.

Police Disperse Rhodesia Crowd

SALISBURY (Reuters)—Southern Rhodesia police today used tear gas to disperse a small crowd of Negro women in the wake of political demonstrations Thursday night in which a Negro was shot dead and 10 were wounded by police.

Two gas bombs were thrown at the women when they gathered near the heavily-guarded prime minister's office and ignored police orders to disperse.

'POISON YOUR ARROWS'

PURDY OUT TOO

Top Man On Peace Resigns

B.C. Electric's top man on the Peace River power project resigned today.

Richard M. Bibbs, appointed project manager only Sept. 12, announced he was quitting to go into private business.

The move came as the board of directors of the crown agency was meeting to discuss the earlier resignation of Dr. Harry L. Purdy, vice-president in charge of operations.

Dr. Purdy announced Thursday he had submitted his resignation, but declined to give reasons other than it was a "personal" matter.

Directors today were expected to name a successor to Dr. Purdy—the man who actually ran the daily operation of B.C. Electric.

A B.C. Electric spokesman said a number of personnel changes and appointments are expected after the meeting.

There have been almost a dozen executive resignations since the government took over B.C. Electric Aug. 1.

PRIVATE BUSINESS

Mr. Bibbs had no comment to make on his reasons for leaving. He said only that he intended to go into private business.

As Peace project manager, his job was to co-ordinate all aspects of the giant hydro plan which B.C. Electric took over from the associates of Swedish financier Axel Wenner-Gren at the same time the government took control of the big utility.

Before that job, Mr. Bibbs was administration manager of the private B.C. Electric's electrical division.

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters)—President Moise Tshombe, who slipped back into his embattled capital Thursday night, today accused the United States of "murdering Katanga as Russia murdered Hungary" in 1956.

The Katanga leader bitterly attacked American aid to the United Nations forces here, accusing U.S. "mercenaries" of bombing churches, schools, hospitals and residential areas. He said women and children were killed in the bombing Thursday night. At one place, he said, seven persons died.

The U.S., Tshombe said, was playing Moscow's game by "sending aircraft and diplomats to the Congo—everything except soldiers."

Tshombe said the "American man is too much of a coward and too decadent" to do the fighting when he can use "the flesh and blood" of the Indian UN troops.

The Katanga leader also accused the UN of making air strikes at manganese mines, trying to destroy Katanga's industrial potential.

CHILDREN OF INDIA

They're Starting to Die

This is the time of year when people start to die in India.

In the hills and mountains temperatures are dropping lower each night as winter sets in.

Cold, bitter winds rush down from the mountain tops and howl through shacks made of canvas, flattened tins, bits of canvas and mud.

PAID 26 CENTS

The father has worked from dawn until dusk that day for about 26 cents. Since he is the breadwinner he has been entitled to most of the food.

The mother has eaten nearly all remaining since her daily struggle to make ends meet takes energy too.

The two young children have had only the watery liquid their parents' rice was cooked in and some tough, long-boiled plant shoots.

This is average for them and they don't complain but continual starvation has sapped their strength, their resistance to disease and the scabs and boils on their skin is only an indication of the sickness within.

THREE WAYS

There are three threats facing these children—dying of pneumonia, dying of tuberculosis and dying of starvation.

NON-UNION PICKET JUST WANTS MONEY

VANCOUVER (CP) — A non-union picket, who is being paid by a union to parade outside a downtown store to put "economic pressure" on the company in a Port Alberni wage dispute, wants an increase of 25 cents to boost his earnings from 75 cents to $1 an hour.

The 55-year-old unemployed janitor, who declined to give his name, said in an interview he has no sympathy for the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union (RWDSU) Local 1518 strike against Woolworths in Port Alberni. He just wants the money.

Port Alberni union members have been on strike since June. The union seeks $1.25 an hour recommended by conciliation, while the company won't budge from $1.

PEACE THREATENS ALBERNI

Mayor Mabel Trowned By Mere Man

Mayor Mabel Anderson of Alberni, the city's first woman mayor and certainly its most contentious, was defeated Thursday in her first bid for re-election to the post.

Victor in the election was Fred Bishop, who polled 1,005 votes to Mayor Anderson's 383.

Her two-year term was highlighted by constant rows with her council over procedure, lengthy consultations with the Municipal Act, and battles against the expenditure of money.

34 VOTES SHORT

One of the chief targets of her criticism was the sewage system proposed by the council. Aldermen went over her head to have a $600,000 referendum on the ballot in the Thursday election, but it failed to make a 60 per cent majority by a margin of 34 votes.

She once smashed the glass top of her desk with her gavel, and on several occasions was voted out of the chair by the aldermen.

Mayor-elect Bishop had been an alderman for 10 years until his resignation from council a year ago with a month of his term yet to serve. He is a grandson of the city's first mayor, an Alberni merchant, and is best known as manager for the past 11 years of the championship Alberni Athletics basketball team.

In neighboring Port Alberni Mayor Loran K. Jordan had no trouble defending his seat against Alf Plant. Vote was 1,815 to 488.

MOORE WINS

Mayor Bill Moore of Courtenay stayed off a challenge from former alderman Mrs. Myrtle Vickberg, 622 to 356.

In North Cowichan Reeve Donald Morton, standing for re-election for the first time, defeated contender James Gordon 1,669-861.

Reeve Morton lives at Somers, in the southern portion of sprawling North Cowichan, while Mr. Gordon is from Chemainus.

DIVIDED

Some might term his election as a victory for the southern faction of the municipality, which was sharply divided earlier this year on a hospital issue.

However, ratepayers chose from among the five council candidates Mrs. Elaine Dobbins of the south end, who led the polls with 1,276 votes in her first try for council, and Coun. Reg Clegg of Westholme, a representative of the north end, who received 1,143 votes.

With no mayoralty contest in Nanaimo, interest centred on the aldermanic vote, where newcomer A. W. McDonald, a young businessman, scored an upset win to lead the polls with 1,776 votes.

Ald. William McGregor came second to retain his seat, but Ald. John Cook joined Edward Bourke and Robert Amos in defeat.

HUSBAND, WIFE

One of the few husband and wife teams in civic politics will start work at Parksville in January.

Mrs. Pauline Touzeau, for many years a school trustee, was re-elected by acclamation and her husband, Ernest Touzeau, led the polls in his first try for a seat on the village commission.

NEW CHINATOWN would look like this from Government Street when given face-lifting as recommended in today's urban renewal report. Pedestrian plaza—100 yards long—would attract tourists to the colorful restaurant area and give the elderly Chinese bachelors who live there a pleasant place to sit and mingle—as they do now in dingy doorways—without danger from automobile traffic. Interiors of the three-storey buildings shown at left and right would be completely renovated to provide cheap, more cheerful and adequate rooms for the declining population of some 750 single Chinese.

RENEWAL SCHEDULE DRAWN UP

An orderly schedule of operation was outlined today by the Capital Region Planning Board for the initial five-year urban renewal program.

Once adoption of the plan is made by the three levels of government and preliminary administrative arrangements made, here's how progress would unfold for Victorians:

1963—Commence North Blanshard redevelopment, phase one. First spot redevelopment pilot scheme. Rehabilitate first residential building in Chinatown. Change remaining parts of Mary Street to park.

1965—Commence Blanshard redevelopment, phase two. Commence Spring Ridge redevelopment.

1966—Three spot redevelopment schemes.

1967—Review program, especially proposals for tentative redevelopment areas.

City's Third Face Called by Planners 'Threat, Challenge'

A hard-punching urban renewal report for Victoria released at City Hall today aims at shaking Victorians out of current complacency that slums can't happen in the oft-quoted "garden city" of Canada.

They have arrived and will continue to spread, a foreword in the report warns, unless the challenge is taken up—fittingly in centennial year.

The report also points out that a year's house-by-house survey shows that 970 low-rent housing units for families and elderly persons are desperately needed in the city.

All told, about one-third of this need will be met if the initial five-year redevelopment program is carried out.

Two areas traditionally considered the worst in the city did not get prominence in the report for different reasons.

The dilapidated warehousing area between Government and Wharf Streets was omitted from the redevelopment recommendations because the federal urban renewal program does not cover derelict commercial property. However there were recommendations for some rehabilitative measures.

ing the fair faces of the city and creating both a threat and a challenge.

The report points out that centennial year will not only mark the end of the city's first century but also the beginning of another and expresses the hope that overcoming blight will be recognized as one of the challenges of the new period.

ZONING REVIEW

To protect blight from spreading deeper into residential areas, the report recommends a review of zoning regulations in various parts of the city including attention to these points:

In James Bay the light industrial zoning should be curtailed to a line west of St. Lawrence Street; the block Caledonia, Cook, Pandora and Quadra has a mixture of residential, commercial and industrial uses; Quadra commercial area at Pandora should not extend past Central Park;

BAD SECTION

The James Bay area—a detailed survey showed—is relatively a fair housing area, with one bad section which the report said could be redeveloped in the future.

Other less-publicized areas are far worse and a foreword to the report warns that they won't get better by being ignored. Here's how the report put the warning:

"The first is a face of mellowed charm and a dignity acquired over 100 years. . . .

"The second face is that of youthful activity symbolized by the confident new buildings of the last decade. . . .

"But there is a third face which is not always recognized. It is a face of tired age, weary with the deterioration and neglect which mar the appearance and efficiency of buildings and their surroundings.

"This third face is called blight and it is slowly corroding the fair faces of the city and creating both a threat and a challenge."

General commercial uses associated with the downtown fringe should not extend east of Cook; if Blanshard is extended and the redevelopment proposal proceeds, zoning will require amendments; competition between land uses in the triangle formed by Douglas, Gorge Road and the railway; industrial zoning in residential Victoria West between William and Esquimalt Roads.

WIPE THEM OUT

The report also said high-rise apartment zoning requires review and commercial parking zones should be wiped out of residential areas.

A relatively cheap method of providing low-rent public housing is available under the National Housing Act.

The federal government pays 50 per cent and the provincial and city governments split the balance of costs for acquiring, clearing and assembling land.

This is sold to Central Mortgage and Housing for construction of low-rent housing with the federal government paying 75 per cent of costs and the province 25 per cent.

If the housing projects require subsidy to keep the rents low—usually the case—this cost is split 75 per cent to the federal government and 12½ per cent to each of the provincial and civic governments.

NO HOPE

Fishboat Search Halted

RCAR Search and Rescue officials said today the search for the 54-foot herring dragger Cape Norman, believed sunk Wednesday night near the mouth of Nanos Bay, north of Nanaimo, was called off at noon.

Four men are believed to have died in the tragedy: Captain Tom Wilson, White Rock; Dave Paulkner, engineer, home town not known; Bob Sherbourn, Union Bay, and Boyd Fuerst, North Vancouver.

"Weather was good today, and both aircraft and surface vessels made extended searches," an RCAR spokesman said. "There is little more that can be done."

AIR AND SEA

An RCAR Albatross and RCAR Otter took shifts on the air search today, while the fisheries patrol vessel Kitimat and privately owned Unimak hunted the surface.

From Maude Island, at the mouth of Nanos Bay, 15 miles north of Nanaimo, aircraft searched in the vast triangle bounded by a line to Merry Island, 15 miles to the northeast; another 30-mile line from Merry Island through Lasqueti Island to Hornby Island; and the Vancouver Island coast southward 30 miles to Nanos Bay.

Surface craft cruised northward as far as Parksville, and eastward across Georgia Strait to Lasqueti Island.

COVER FOUND

A hatch cover has been found, but not positively identified as having come from the missing 54-foot dragger.

Otherwise the vessel has sunk without a trace.

First alarm was given Wednesday evening when a vessel in Georgia Strait heard a radio signal.

"Mayday—in distress and sinking one-quarter mile from Maude Island."

Last words heard were those of Capt. Wilson, who said "the dinghy with three men aboard has capsized."

MONTE ROBERTS

A goodly number of the loyal constituents have been coming around asking about the photograph published on the front page of this newspaper a couple of days ago: the one depicting a sneaky looking character depositing a bundle of garbage in a Victoria city trash can.

The photo, as you may remember, was designed to illustrate a news story telling of city council's worries over non-residents using Victoria's very own litter bins.

And what the loyal constituents have been coming around to ask is: was that the dear old dad in the photo?

The dear old dad would refuse to answer, on the grounds it might tend to incriminate him, were it not for the fact his granddaughter had already blown the whistle, by saying "What is grandpa doing that for?"

So I may as well confess, when the boss decided he wanted this particular tableau staged, he put the finger on me.

Little did he realize how thoroughly I could put myself into the role of a garbage-legger.

You've heard of "the method" in acting circles? This was the technique I used. And it was no trouble at all.

I simply pretended the time was last summer, when I lived in an outlying district where garbage collections was, to say the least, infrequent and informal.

During that period, I became an authority on the location of trash cans, especially those least likely to be under surveillance.

And if any constituent thinks I was posing for the front page picture, let him be assured I was simply re-enacting a daily routine.

(I wouldn't have had the courage to make this confession of a garbage-legger, were it not that I have now fled across the border into Oak Bay, which does not have an extradition treaty with Victoria.)

Engineer Honored At Bedside

A life membership in the Association of Professional Engineers of British Columbia was presented Thursday night to Victoria engineer W. K. Willis.

Mr. Willis was for 39 years district engineer for the Hydrographic Service, in charge of mapping and technical surveys on the west coast.

Because of illness, he was unable to attend the honors and awards luncheon at the annual meeting of the B.C. engineers in the Empress Hotel today. So president William Hall and vice-president Jack Merchant visited his home at 659 Mount Joy Avenue, and made the presentation in a bedside ceremony.

Other veteran Victoria engineers who received life memberships at today's luncheon were: E. S. Jones, 1626 Rockland Avenue; A. G. Phillips, 2685 Queenswood Drive, and William Waters, Royal Newport Apartments, Newport Avenue.

Philip John Volway, HMC Dockyard, following too closely, $20, registration not in, conspicuous place, $10.

Evelyn Moorhouse, 43 South Turner, careless driving, $35.

Terrance Quicksister, 3700 Seaton Street, over 30, $25.

Driver of the car, D. M. Clark, 3338 Wordsworth, said he saw the horse take a huge bound, and then there was a crash.

The windshield of Mr. Clark's auto was smashed and the hood crumpled.

Neither Mr. Clark nor his mother-in-law, a passenger in the car, were injured.

25-Year Men Feted Tonight

One of Canada's most exclusive organizations, the James Island 25-Year Club, will hold its eighth annual dinner tonight at 6:30 at Holyrood House.

There is only one qualification for membership—at least 25 years of service at the James Island plant of Canadian Industries Ltd. Of the 46 people expected tonight, 22 are actively employed and 24 are retired.

The club boasts 1,510 years of service to the company, for an average of 33 years per member.

RCN Ships To Steam 15,000 Miles

The RCN Pacific command is planning a 15,000-mile, three and one-half month training cruise to the Orient and Indian Ocean for the destroyer escorts Assiniboine, Ottawa and Margaree.

The ships will leave Jan. 5, and will not return until mid-April.

It will be the longest training cruise, both in miles steamed and time away from port, ever undertaken by Pacific command ships.

In the Indian Ocean area, the three destroyers will carry out exercises with units of other Commonwealth navies, including Australia, New Zealand, India, Pakistan, Ceylon and Britain.

Ports of call will not be announced until diplomatic clearances have been received, possibly not until after the ships sail. But the general route will be via Hawaii, one or two other Pacific islands, and Malaya.

While in the Pacific, the ships will work with U.S. surface and air units in anti-submarine warfare exercises.

Capt. Victor Browne, commander of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron and captain of Assiniboine, will be in command. Commanding officers of the other ships are Cmdr. I. A. MacPherson, Ottawa, and Cmdr. J. H. MacLean, Margaree.

Investor's Charges Labelled 'Idiotic'

Attorney-General Robert Bonner today defended the B.C. government's B.C. Electric takeover against what he termed "idiotic" charges by a leading British investment executive.

Mr. Bonner was replying to Sir Edwin Herbert who said in Montreal Thursday that confidence in B.C. had been "shattered by the unfair and improper action" of the power takeover.

"His opinion that B.C. has lost its attraction to foreign investors is not borne out by the enquiries which this government is constantly receiving through its offices in Victoria, San Francisco and London," said Mr. Bonner.

LEADING CANADA

"We are reputed to be leading Canada in primary industry investment this year."

Mr. Bonner said that the trade department's estimate of $1,260,000,000 worth of capital investment in B.C. for 1961 appears to be holding up "pretty close."

He said he was expecting 1962 investment to be slightly larger again.

Mr. Bonner pointed out that Sir Edwin "is a self-confessed representative of shareholders in B.C. Power Corp."

"This is B.C. Electric's parent company which is attempting through the courts to win higher compensation for the takeover."

Mr. Bonner said the company, through a Toronto public relations firm, had already launched a strong protest campaign. He said the PR firm "may in fact be responsible" for newspaper reports of Sir Edwin's remarks.

Mr. Bonner said that Sir Edwin's charge that worldwide banking protests had been "smothered" by Premier Bennett "is idiotic on its face."

"In 10 years of public life I have never seen any protest smothered by anyone else," said the attorney-general.

Mr. Bonner backed up his reply by quoting Earl Alexander as saying B.C. is a "very safe place for industry to invest."

BLIGHT AREA CLEARANCE PLAN BEFORE COUNCIL

Hydro Takeover Here Delayed

Premier Bennett announced this afternoon that the B.C. Electric-B.C. Hydro swap of Vancouver Island and mainland operations has been postponed from Jan. 1 to April 1.

The Premier gave no reasons, but said he acted "on advice received today" from Power Commission chairman Dr. H. L. Keenleyside and B.C. Electric chairman Dr. Gordon Shrum.

The swap would have put Greater Victoria electricity distribution under B.C. Hydro instead of B.C. Electric.

NORTH BLANSHARD AREA BY 1966?

BULLETIN

Phil W. Barchard of Vancouver was named general manager in charge of B.C. Electric operations this afternoon.

B.C. Electric's top man on the Peace River power project resigned today.

Richard M. Bibbs, appointed project manager only Sept. 12, announced he was quitting to go into private business.

The move came as the board of directors of the crown agency was meeting to discuss the earlier resignation of Dr. Harry L. Purdy, vice-president in charge of operations.

Dr. Purdy announced Thursday he had submitted his resignation, but declined to give reasons other than it was a "personal" matter.

Directors today were expected to name a successor to Dr. Purdy—the man who actually ran the daily operation of B.C. Electric.

A B.C. Electric spokesman said a number of personnel changes and appointments are expected after the meeting.

There have been almost a dozen executive resignations since the government took over B.C. Electric Aug. 1.

PRIVATE BUSINESS

Mr. Bibbs had no comment to make on his reasons for leaving. He said only that he intended to go into private business.

As Peace project manager, his job was to co-ordinate all aspects of the giant hydro plan which B.C. Electric took over from the associates of Swedish financier Axel Wenner-Gren at the same time the government took control of the big utility. Before that job, Mr. Bibbs was administration manager of the private B.C. Electric's electrical division.

LIONS GROUP TALKS TO IVY

VANCOUVER (CP)—The name of Frank (Pop) Ivy, one of the most successful coaches in Canadian football history, today was mentioned as a possible coach of the British Columbia Lions if a private syndicate is successful in a bid to buy the club.

Bill Clancey, spokesman for the syndicate whom he said will be identified shortly, revealed that a number of telephone conversations were held with Ivy. The coach who brought Edmonton Eskimos to three Grey Cups, was said to be interested in coaching the Lions if the syndicate is successful in its purchase bid.

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters)—President Moise Tshombe, who slipped back into his embattled capital Thursday night, today accused the United States of "murdering Katanga as Russia murdered Hungary" in 1956.

The Katanga leader bitterly attacked American aid to the United Nations forces here, accusing U.S. "mercenaries" of bombing churches, schools, hospitals and residential areas.

He said women and children were killed in the bombing Thursday night. At one place, he said, seven persons died.

The U.S. Tshombe said, was playing Moscow's game by "sending aircraft and diplomats to the Congo—everything except soldiers."

Tshombe said the "American man is too much of a coward and too decadent" to do the fighting when he can use "the flesh and blood" of the Indian UN troops.

The Katanga leader also accused the UN of making air strikes at manganese mines, trying to destroy Katanga's industrial potential.

Tshombe arrived back in Elisabethville in a silent conveyer after driving 170 miles from the copper mining town of Ndola in Northern Rhodesia. He was whisked with-

5-Year Program Of Development

By JOHN MIKA
Times City Hall Reporter

A $5,000,000 attack on spreading slums in Victoria, calling initially for razing and rebuilding of 38 acres of blighted housing, was proposed to city council today.

The five-year plan drawn up by Capital Region Planning Board culminates a year-long survey costing $25,000, jointly sponsored by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation and the city.

Best news for council in the report dealt with costs.

The estimates showed that the giant redevelopment program could be obtained for an outlay of about $350,000 of city money because the federal and provincial governments would pick up most of the tab under urban renewal provisions.

Return to the city, besides making it a better place to live, would include almost a doubling of tax revenue from the redeveloped areas and about $100,000 worth of right-of-way for the proposed Blanshard Street extension.

Priority would be aimed at the north Blanshard and Spring Ridge areas where all buildings would be torn down, land re-assembled and new low-rent housing constructed for some 295 families.

Rehabilitation for Chinatown

Four other blighted areas would be redeveloped after the first five-year program was completed.

Relocation of obsolete North Ward Elementary School on five acres and sale of 2½ acres for motel development also is involved in the priority development.

Secondary development under the plan would rehabilitate Chinatown and Victoria West without the radical surgery involved in demolition of buildings.

This would be accomplished in Chinatown by conversion of two existing three-storey buildings into adequate housing for most of the area's 750 aging bachelors and conversion of Fisgard, below Government, into a 100-yard pedestrian plaza.

In Victoria West, the plan proposes a relatively simple method of getting immediate results by closing between-block portions of Mary Street.

By JOHN MIKA

Stanley Murphy's election victory statement as the new Saanich reeve has set the simmering metropolitan government pot boiling again.

The reeve-elect—following in the footsteps of former reeve Arthur Ash—said he will make an appointment with Victoria's new mayor early in the New Year to discuss the prospects of establishing a metro government with jurisdiction over Greater Victoria and the entire Saanich peninsula.

It is virtually certain that all other civic leaders will scorn the suggestion as they have in the past but Mr. Murphy will get a sympathetic hearing from Victoria's new mayor whoever he is.

Both mayoralty candidates J. Donald Smith and R. B. (Dick) Wilson have indicated favor for the idea of a study at least.

Mr. Smith has come out flatly in favor of metropolitan government, created by provincial decree if necessary.

Mr. Wilson has said some sort of greater community is inevitable and has promised he would call for establishment of

Beer on Douglas—Murphy Why Restrict it?—Ostler

Signs of a conflict are already evident in the new Saanich council.

Councillor Robert Ostler today opposed a statement by Reeve-Elect Stanley Murphy that he would restrict Saanich beer parlors to Douglas Street.

"It must be on Douglas Street or nothing," said Mr. Murphy.

He made this statement after Saanich residents had voted 5,474 to 3,689 in favor of selling beer by the glass in the municipality.

The provincial government issues the licences, but we control the zoning.

Councillor Ostler immediately opposed this view.

"I agree with Mr. Murphy that there should be no beer parlors in residential areas," he said. "But I will certainly oppose restricting them to Douglas Street when the people have voted for beer in Saanich."

Mr. Murphy's statement that beer parlors should be confined to Douglas Street runs counter to a local businessman's proposal to establish a combination English-style pub and German beer garden in the Cordova Bay area.

To do this he would first have to get permission from the council; then persuade the B.C. Legislature to pass an amendment to the B.C. Liquor Act permitting a pub and a beer garden as distinct from a beer parlor.

NON-UNION PICKET JUST WANTS MONEY

VANCOUVER (CP) — A non-union picket, who is being paid by a union to parade outside a downtown store to put "economic pressure" on the company in a Port Alberni wage dispute, wants an increase of 25 cents to boost his earnings from 75 cents to $1 an hour.

The 55-year-old unemployed janitor, who declined to give his name, said in an interview he has no sympathy for the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union (RWDSU) Local 1518 strike against Woolworths in Port Alberni. He just wants the money.

Port Alberni union members have been on strike since June. The union seeks $1.25 an hour, recommended by conciliation, while the company won't budge from $1.

Scattered Fighting On Frontier of Goa

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Scattered border fighting today was reported around the frontier of Goa as India and Portugal appeared to be heading toward a showdown over the tiny Portuguese enclave.

The Press Trust of India news agency said Portuguese troops opened fire from Goa without provocation Thursday night on two Indian villages. The agency also reported fighting between Portuguese troops and Goan guerrillas inside the 1,300-square-mile territory on India's west coast.

The reports followed a Portuguese statement Thursday night accusing Indian fighter planes of strafing a Goan village and violating the air space of Damão and Diu, two other Portuguese territories.

So far there have been no reports of direct clashes between Portuguese and Indian forces massed along the Goan border, but India has served notice it will free to act if there are "provocations" by Portugal or internal repression in the enclaves.

COUNCIL

Henry, Wilson, Edward, Langford and Skinner open to cross-traffic.

The plan also calls for several "spot redevelopment" projects scattered in several areas of the city involving one or two or three rundown houses in relatively good housing areas.

Hold-the-Line Action Proposed

Also called for is a coordinated effort by all city committees and departments to hold the line against spread of slums in borderline areas.

For the downtown area, marred by some derelict property, the report generally prescribed development of a series of pedestrian malls, off-street parking facilities and a general paint-up, clean-up campaign in order to attract shoppers and tourists.

Biggest single project proposed in the report is the North Blanshard redevelopment over 28 acres bounded by Hillside, a line between Wark and Quadra Streets, Kings Road, a line between Blanshard and Rose logged line running east of Douglas and along Ross Lane. Some 129 houses, a small church, meeting hall, 18-unit motel and a corner store would be demolished to clear the way for a new motel zone, a five-acre school site to replace North Ward School and construction of 139 units of low-rent row housing and garden apartments and 21 units of bungalows for elderly persons.

Total cost of purchasing, clearing, relocating residents and re-routing roads and services would be an estimated $1,148,842.

$376,470 From Federal Gov't

Net cost of $752,942 would be split $376,470 to the federal government, and $188,235 paid by each of the provincial and civic governments.

Then the low-rent housing, estimated at $1,570,000 would be built in the area split 75-25 per cent between the federal and provincial governments. Any losses on rental would be split 75 per cent to the federal and 12½ per cent to each of the provincial and civic governments.

Civic gains also would include $100,000 worth of right-of-way for the Blanshard extension going through the redeveloped area — by rearranging existing road allowances.

In addition, the existing $463,550 taxable assessment of the area would be approximately doubled, giving the city more revenue every year after the development.

A similar plan would cover 10 acres of Spring Ridge area, bounded by Denman, Fernwood, portions of Gladstone and Spring Streets.

The existing 59 buildings would be demolished, land re-assembled and 117 units of low-rent row housing and 18 units for elderly citizens constructed.

Net cost of $309,000 for purchase, clearing, relocation of residents and services would include a city share of $77,250.

The new housing would cost $1,350,000, again shared 75-25 per cent by the federal and provincial governments.

The report recommends a review of the whole program at the end of five years when priorities could be allocated to four other sections requiring razing and redevelopment: the mill area between Turner and Bridge Streets; the area south of Memorial Arena; the Johnson-Cook-Yates area; and the St. James-Beckley area in James Bay.

BALTAP Established

CHILDREN

This is average for them and they don't complain but continual starvation has sapped their strength, their resistance to disease and the scabs and boils on their skin is only an indication of the sickness within.

THREE WAYS

There are three threats facing these children — dying of pneumonia, dying of tuberculosis and dying of starvation. Since 1945 the Unitarian Service Committee has saved thousands of such lives by timely offerings of milk, food and medicine. Since 1953 the Times has been proud to help the USC and this year is asking Victorians to give whatever they can to the Children of India Fund. This is the simplest way today to buy someone's life to give back to them and it takes so little. Donations can be dropped off at the Times, 2631 Douglas, and the Bank of Montreal, main branch at Yates and Douglas, or mailed to "The Times Children of India Fund," 2631 Douglas.
